Development Corp. Stock Sale Drive Is Under Way Here

A month - long campaign to sell stock in the new Washington C. H. Development Corp. got under way here Tuesday, following Monday night's kick - off meeting of the campaigners at Fayette Grange Hall, on W. Elm St.

With a slogan of "Invest in Your Future," the campaign goal is the sale of $100,000 worth of stock between now and Aug. 15, although the corporation is capitalized for $200,000.

The purpose of the corporation is to promote the economic growth and stability of the community by attracting new industries here or offering assistance to existing ones, thereby creating more jobs, more payrolls and greater overall prosperity.

Money from the sale of stock would be used to help new industries get started, but it has been made plain that "this is not a give-away;" rather, the money would be loaned with interest, to those companies that need financial help and to purchase and develop industrial sites for new industries on a lease - purchase plan.

FOLLOWING the dinner served by the women of Fayette Grange, Tom Murray, president of the corporation and chairman of the committee that laid the foundation for it, reviewed the background, cited the needs for such an institution and outlined its general objectives.

Murray also cited several cities in which industrial development corporations had been successful. One of these was Danville, Ill., where, he said, a development corporation had been instrumental in bringing in 17 new industries in 17 years.

When the corporation was liquidated (another was then formed), he said, the stockholders were paid in full for their stock and, in addition, profits (from interest on loans) were distributed among the stockholders.

C. F. SIMONIN of Cincinnati, the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. industrial development representative for this district, told the group that railroads are vitally interested in communities which have a definite industrial development program and declared that "railroads are in a position to help communities that are in a position to help themselves."

Railroads, he said, are always in touch with industries wanting to establish new plants or move going factories to new locations and he added significantly that "they can steer them to cities that are ready to take care of their needs."

He said one of the first uses of funds should be to get industrial sites "under control and protective restriction" in order to be ready to offer new industries a plant location without delay.

George Baldridge Will Be Eligible For Parole Sept. 1

Judge John P. Case has received notice from the State Pardon and Parole Commission that George Baldridge, taken to the Ohio Penitentiary Nov. 27, 1956, to serve one to 20 years for manslaughter in the shotgun slaying of Game Protector Irvin J. Patrick Nov. 15, 1955, will be eligible for hearing for parole on and after Sept. 1.

Baldridge, former sheriff of Adams County, was first taken to the penitentiary March 9, immediately after his conviction here. However, he was released within a few days when his attorneys obtained a stay of execution of sentence in the Court of Appeals. The case then went through the Court of Appeals and was remanded back to the Common Pleas Court here for execution of sentence.

In the meantime, Baldridge faced a damage action for $150,000 filed by Mrs. Patrick. She was awarded judgment of $80,000 for the death of her husband.

Baldridge attorneys carried this case to the Court of Appeals where it is still pending.

5 Dayton Prisoners Beat Turnkey, Fail In Escape Effort

DAYTON (AP)—Five inmates of the Montgomery County jail were thwarted in an attempted jail break early today, but a jailer was beaten before police arrived to quell the escape attempt.

Jailer Jo Swigrt was taken to a hospital for treatment for bruises and abrasions, then discharged.

Sheriff Bernard Keiter reported the five prisoners somehow obtained a hacksaw and cut their way through a metal plate from their cell block and by this means opened four cell doors. The five men were identified as James Brown, 25, held for armed robbery; Fred Wilson, 19, accused of burglary; William Cox, 19, an escapee from the Boys Industrial School; Robert Rogan, 27, held for armed robbery and parole violations, and Arthur Fitzgerald, 52, held on a forgery charge. Fitzgerald is from Sheridan, Wyo., and the others are from Dayton.

New Tax-Cut Drive Hinted

House Panel Seeking Budget Chief's Views

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee recalled Budget Director Percival Brundage for a special hearing today that may spur a new congressional tax-cutting drive.

The committee wants to know, said Chairman Cannon (D-Mo), what the Eisenhower administrations proposes to do with the money it will have left over if it holds 1958 spending to 1957 budget levels.

Cannon said hurried estimates by committee staff experts indicate an unexpected surplus of about $2.9 billion if 1957 spending levels are adhered to in 1958.

In his annual budget message to Congress last January, President Eisenhower estimated spending in 1958 at $71.8 billion and the fiscal yearend surplus at $1.8 billion. Some congressional experts have estimated that the 1958 spending might go $1 billion or more above Eisenhowers estimate.

Late last month, however, the President told government agencies to hold their 1958 spending "at or below the level" of 1957 to the extent feasible."

ORIGINAL estimates were that 1957 spending would be about $68.9 billion, but actual spending for the year that ended June 30 is expected to be closer to $70 billion.

Because of the secrecy surrounding the "downhold" order of June 28, some Democrats suspect that the administration is planning to jump the gun on the Democratic Congress and come out soon for a tax cut.

"We want all the information we can get about this new directive," Cannon reported after top committee Democrats decided Monday to quiz Brundage.

If the evidence shows that the government can get along in 1958 on the same budget it had in 1957, the committee could move to rescind some of the appropriations Congress already has made on the basis of a larger budget.

Or the surplus could be reduced by cutting taxes.

Girl's Captor Given 3-Year Prison Term

LONDON (AP) — A 27-year-old laborer was sentenced to three years in jail today for keeping a girl imprisoned in a hole in the ground 3½ months.

John Raymond Bridal was accused of forcing Marjorie Jordan from her bedroom, binding her mouth and hands and then carrying her on his motorcycle to the hole in the ground in back of his home.

Miss Jordan, 28, told police Bridal never tried to make love to her. All he did during those 3½ months, she said, was either beat her or make her undress as punishment if she refused to follow his orders.

Those orders, the court was told, were mainly to help him enlarge the hole in the ground so he could carry out some experiments on a new invention and to do his laundry.

Detective Inspector Leonard Herbert testified that the experiments involved a long piece of wire connecting circular metal discs buried in the earth.

The inspector said he couldn't figure what it was all about. He said Bridal had spent nine months in a mental hospital in 1952.

Miss Jordan, who said she had never seen Bridal before he broke into her bedroom and took her away, was rescued by police after a neighbor found a note she had tossed over the fence.

Toledo Youths' 'Joke' Backfires

TOLEDO (AP)—Two youths who wanted to create a suspicious-looking incident Monday night succeeded all too well.

Police arrested them after spotting their car traveling on Glendale Avenue with a catsup-smeared leg sticking out of the trunk.

John McIntyre 18, the driver, and William Whitten, 19, the trunk occupant, were fined $10 and costs each as suspicious persons.

Baptist Preacher Is Slated As Star Witness in Hearing

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The U. S. government was ready today to call a star witness in the Clinton contempt trial, a Baptist minister who was beaten for escorting six Negro students to a newly integrated high school.

He is the Rev. Paul Turner, 34, a native of Tennessee and pastor of Clinton First Baptist Church. The beating occurred across the street from Clinton High School last Dec. 4.

Rev. Mr. Turner is one of the main props in the government's case against the 15 defendants because part of the charge against them is that they committed "overt acts."

U. S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. must prove:

1. That the 14 Tennesseans and Northern Segregationist John Kasper "knowingly" violated a U. S. District Court order forbidding interference with the high school integration.

2. That they conspired together to defy this injunction.

3. THAT, as a result, the "overt acts" were committed resulting in violence. At one point, 100 state troopers and more than 600 National Guardsmen, with tanks, were sent to Clinton to restore order.

Rev. Mr. Turner has told reporters that one of the defendants, Clyde Cook, 35, bloodied his nose. Others beat him about the body, he said.

The trial has now come to the fierce part of the Clinton story.

A witness quoted Alonzo Bullock, 50, carpenter and sometime preacher, as saying, "Unless they get the niggers out of Clinton High School, there's going to be some killed."

Others said they were assailed with—

"Let's kill the nigger-lovers!"

Such testimony came from the government's witnesses, James Leo Burnett, 35, an industrial plant supervisor, and Sidney Davis, 39, Clinton lawyer. They both joined Rev. Mr. Turner the day he escorted the Negroes to the high school.

Traffic Judge Late Paying Traffic Fine

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Judge Samuel Wiesenthal, appointed last week to hear traffic violation cases, was almost late for his first day on the bench Monday.

He was trying to settle a speeding ticket given him last October. But he didn't get it paid; the court had no record of his offense.

Benson Urging End to Corn Allotment Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson recommended to Congress today that corn, the nation's largest grain crop, be supported at lower price levels in the future and that planting allotments be dropped.

Benson proposed, beginning in 1959, to take corn out of the preferred price support and control category which also includes wheat, cotton, rice, peanuts and tobacco.

These are the six "basic crops" which have wielded great influence on farm legislation.

In a report requested by Congress, Benson said his recommendation would bring about a better long-term balance in the production of feed materials and livestock products. The secretary had been asked for ideas on improving feed grain programs.

In addition, Benson said, his proposal would move in the direction of "more freedom for our farmers to produce, unfettered by allotments determined by rigid formulas."

FURTHERMORE, he said, it would reduce costs to the government and assist in "meeting the public demand for economy in government."

Under present law corn, like the other basic crops, must be supported at between 75 and 90 per cent of parity, depending on supplies and needs. The larger the supplies in relation to needs, the lower the support may be.

But under Benson's plan, corn would be supported between zero and 90 per cent of parity, or between 60 and 90 per cent if Congress preferred, as might be de-

TV 'Killer' Set To Be Tested; Boy Is Electrocuted

CHICAGO (AP)—The General Electric Co. plans to re-examine its widely distributed 1958 17 - inch portable metal set as a result of the electrocution of a 6-year-old boy in his home Sunday.

GE is sending engineers to Chicago to conduct an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of the boy, Howard Erenstein Jr.

Howard and Pearl Erenstein, the boy's parents, testified at an inquest Monday that their son brushed against an aluminum cart on which the GE portable model rested.

There was a crackling sound and the boy fell to the floor. The coroner said it appeared the boy's body was "grounded" by moisture on a kitchen cabinet.

Gov. James Cox Dies at Age 87

DAYTON (AP) — James M. Cox, whose long and varied career carried him from a small Ohio farm to the threshold of the presidency, died in his home here Monday night at the age of 87.

Private burial services will be held Wednesday morning at Woodland Cemetery. A memorial service, open to the public, will be held Wednesday noon in Christ Episcopal Church, Dayton.

Cox, three-time Ohio governor and a newspaper publisher for more than half a century, was Democratic presidential candidate in 1920 with Franklin D. Roosevelt as his running mate. Warren G. Harding, another Ohio publisher, won the election.

Cox's death came after several years of failing health. Thursday afternoon he stumbled and fell while working at the Dayton Daily News, one of his newspapers, and that night suffered a stroke. He went into a coma the next day and never regained consciousness.

Although James Cox Jr. was chief executive officer of the newspapers, the elder Cox remained active in publishing the Dayton Daily News, the Dayton Journal Herald, the Springfield Sun, the Springfield News, The Miami Daily News, the Atlanta Journal and the Atlanta Constitution.

COX ALSO operated stations WHIO and WHIO-TV in Dayton, WSB and WSB-TV in Atlanta and WCKT and WCKR radio and TV in Miami.

Cox was born March 31, 1870, on a farm near Jacksonburg, Butler County, Ohio. His formal education ended after two years of high school, but at 16 he took a teacher's examination and passed it.

He taught for a few terms then joined a brother-in-law who was editor of a newspaper in Middletown. Cox worked as a printer's devil, parttime reporter and general handy man. He later joined the Cincinnati Enquirer where, within a few years, he became a political writer.

His political interests developed and in 1908 he was elected the U. S. House of Representatives from Ohio's 3rd Dist. Two years later he was re-elected.

At the end of his second term, he ran for governor and was elected. He served in 1913-15, 1917- Ohio's first three-time chief executive. He was defeated for the 1915-1917 term.

Cox's son, James Jr., said no organizational changes are contemplated among the Cox newspapers. He said:

"We'll simply go along as we have been."

Besides James Jr., Cox is survived by his wife, Margaretta Cox, Dayton; his other son, John, New Rochelle, N.Y.; two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Glover, Honolulu, and Mrs. Anne Chambers, Atlanta, Ga.; and five grandchildren.

56 Missing In Dutch Plane Crash

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—A Dutch airliner plunged into the sea off northwest New Guinea before dawn today. By early afternoon hope was being abandoned for finding alive any of 56 persons listed as missing.

There were 17 children aboard the KLM plane and most were believed among the missing. At least one child was among the 11 passengers and the stewardess who were rescued.

Native boats and launches from the Dutch destroyer Koretnauer searching the area for survivors recovered 11 bodies.

Dr. I. A. Aler, president of KLM airlines, said on the basis of information available, it appeared the plane developed engine trouble and made a forced landing on the ocean.

He said hope had almost been given up of finding alive any of the missing.

KLM listed the nationalities of the missing as 53 Dutch and 3 Britons.

The Lockheed Super-Constellation, carrying 59 passengers and a crew of 9, plunged into 600 feet of water shortly before dawn five miles off Biak Island.

The plane, the Neutron, was on a regular flight to Amsterdam by way of Manila, Jakarta, Bangkok, Rangoon, Karachi and Rome.

'Experts' See No Coverup By Sam Sheppard's Relatives

NEW YORK (AP)—A panel of four "top experts" have dismissed all possibilities that relatives of Dr. Sam Sheppard "covered up" any evidence in the Sheppard murder case, mystery writer Erle Stanley Gardner reports in the August issue of Argosy magazine.

Dr. Sheppard was sentenced to life imprisonment for the slaying of his wife Marilyn at their home near Cleveland in 1954.

Gardner said there had been insinuations that the Sheppard family removed fingerprints, magnified the story of the intruder Dr. Sam Sheppard claims killed his wife, and in other ways directed evidence away from Sheppard.

The four experts are John Reid, Dr. Lemoyne Snyder, C. B. Hanscome and Alex Lee Gregory. All but Snyder are lie detector examiners and Snyder, Hanscome and Gregory are past presidents of the Academy for Scientific Interrogation.

Gardner again wrote that the Court of Last Resort would like a lie detector test given Sheppard himself, but in Columbus, warden Ralph Alvis of the Ohio Penitentiary said the court had never asked him to authorize the test.

Alvis added, however, that he would not permit Sheppard to take the test because of the "hundreds and hundreds and hundreds" of prisoners who ask for one.

"If I let Sheppard have one, I have to honor the request of all the others and there are just too many," he said.

Link to Marilyn Sheppard's Death Considered

Florida Prisoner Confesses Slaying

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland police said today a 22-year-old fugitive from a Florida state road camp has admitted that in 1954 he beat to death a Cleveland woman who surprised him burglarizing her home.

Detectives said the youth, held at Deland, Fla., did not mention Marilyn Sheppard as his alleged victim, but the story he told Sheriff Rodney B. Thursby vaguely resembled circumstances in the widely publicized Sheppard murder.

But Capt. David E. Kerr, head of the Cleveland homicide bureau said he placed no credence in the "confession."

Mrs. Sheppard, whose husband, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard is serving a life term in the Ohio Penitentiary for the crime, was killed by 35 blows of an unknown weapon in the bedroom of her home on the lakeshore in Bay Village. The slaying occurred in the early hours of July 4, 1954.

Police said Sheriff Thursby told them the youth, identified as Donald J. Wedler, said he wanted to get the Cleveland crime off his conscience.

Wedler was imprisoned at Deland as an escapee from a state road camp where he was serving a breaking and entering sentence from Tampa, according to Chief Volusia County Jailer J. T. Deloach.

Deland could give no home address for Wedler. He said the man had "been all over" and had been in reformatories "at several different places."

Cleveland police said Sheriff Thursby gave them this account from the alleged confession:

Wedler arrived in Cleveland from California in July 1954, stole a car and remembered "driving over a big bridge into a residential district outside Cleveland."

The youth was quoted as saying he parked the car, took an iron bar from a suitcase he was carrying and entered a home.

"I saw a man asleep on a couch," he was quoted. "I went upstairs and there was a woman asleep in one of the rooms. While I was ransacking a dresser she woke up."

The sheriff quoted Wedler as saying he struck the woman with the iron bar "two or three times" and ran down the stairs, encountering a man on the way. The bloodstained iron bar allegedly was thrown into "a large body of water."

Wedler said he abandoned the car, after changing his clothes, then left Cleveland.

Capt. Kerr said Mrs. Sheppard's bedroom had not been ransacked and she was struck at least 35 times on the head and face. He noted also that Dr. Sheppard claimed he was twice knocked out fighting his wife's assailant.

Detective Inspector Thomas Murphy also discounted the Florida confession, but he said he would ask Sheriff Thursby to mail him the prisoner's complete statement for study.

Wedler was described as nearly 6 feet tall with blond hair cut in "duck-tail" fashion. Dr. Sheppard maintained the man he fought with in the house and outside was "a large man" with dark, bushy hair.

Pilot Exceeds Bullet's Speed

Former Ohio Marine At Controls of Ship

NEW YORK (AP)—The Navy set a transcontinental speed record today by flying 2,460 miles coast to coast in 3 hours 23 minutes 8.1 seconds—faster than the speed of a bullet.

Previous record, set by an Air Force F84F March 9, 1955, was 3 hours, 44 minutes 53.88 seconds.

A Marine pilot, Maj. John Glenn Jr., piloted a F8U1 Crusader from Los Alamitos, Calif., naval air station to Floyd Bennett Field here to set the record.

The Navy called the test "Operation Bullet"—meaning that it expected the jet to zip along the course with greater speed than that attributed to a pistol bullet.

The pilot streaked at more than 1,000 miles an hour, slowing for descents to refuel in the air and for the letdown over New York. A .45 caliber bullet at muzzle velocity travels only about 586 mph.

Maj. Glenn, 36, formerly of New Concord, Ohio, is stationed in Washington with the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics.

The cross country flight was officially billed as a test of the Crusader's sustained capability at near-maximum power over long distance.

Last month two Crusaders flew from a carrier off California to a carrier off Florida to demonstrate the Navy's flexibility for President Eisenhower.

They flew from the carrier Bon Homme Richard off the California coast to the deck of the carrier Saratoga off Florida in 3 hours, 28 minutes, demonstrating a quick coast-to-coast shift of carrier planes.

A Crusader flew 1,015 mph in the 1956 Thompson Trophy Race.

New Trial Chances Held To Be 'Slim'

CANTON (AP)—Harry Bundy, convicted in a holdup slaying, said he feels "my chances of getting a new trial are pretty slim."

But the 40-year-old Zanesville man added after a hearing on a new trial motion Monday:

"My lawyers and I will appeal the case and feel we stand a good chance of getting an appeal."

Common Pleas Judge John Rossetti has asked both sides for briefs on the new trial motion, which was filed on the basis of "newly found evidence." The judge said he would make his decision in several days.

Monday defense attorneys presented witnesses to contradict trial testimony of Miss Martha Warnack, 14. The girl said she saw Bundy and Russell McCoy, 22, of Zanesville at the Uniontown, Ohio grocery where two men were shot to death. McCoy, who testified against Bundy, is under indictment in the double killing Nov. 23.

Mrs. Kay Priester of Uniontown said she was in the grocery shortly before the holdup and did not see Bundy or Miss Warnack and her girl friends there.

LONDON (AP) — A 27-year-old laborer was sentenced to three years in jail today for keeping a girl imprisoned in a hole in the ground 3½ months.

John Raymond Bridal was accused of forcing Marjorie Jordan from her bedroom, binding her mouth and hands and then carrying her on his motorcycle to the hole in the ground in back of his home.

Miss Jordan, 28, told police Bridal never tried to make love to her. All he did during those 3½ months, she said, was either beat her or make her undress as punishment if she refused to follow his orders.

Those orders, the court was told, were mainly to help him enlarge the hole in the ground so he could carry out some experiments on a new invention and to do his laundry.

Detective Inspector Leonard Herbert testified that the experiments involved a long piece of wire connecting circular metal discs buried in the earth.

The inspector said he couldn't figure what it was all about. He said Bridal had spent nine months in a mental hospital in 1952.

Miss Jordan, who said she had never seen Bridal before he broke into her bedroom and took her away, was rescued by police after a neighbor found a note she had tossed over the fence.

Gov. James Cox Dies at Age 87

DAYTON (AP) — James M. Cox, whose long and varied career carried him from a small Ohio farm to the threshold of the presidency, died in his home here Monday night at the age of 87.

Private burial services will be held Wednesday morning at Woodland Cemetery. A memorial service, open to the public, will be held Wednesday noon in Christ Episcopal Church, Dayton.

Cox, three-time Ohio governor and a newspaper publisher for more than half a century, was Democratic presidential candidate in 1920 with Franklin D. Roosevelt as his running mate. Warren G. Harding, another Ohio publisher, won the election.

Cox's death came after several years of failing health. Thursday afternoon he stumbled and fell while working at the Dayton Daily News, one of his newspapers, and that night suffered a stroke. He went into a coma the next day and never regained consciousness.

Although James Cox Jr. was chief executive officer of the newspapers, the elder Cox remained active in publishing the Dayton Daily News, the Dayton Journal Herald, the Springfield Sun, the Springfield News, The Miami Daily News, the Atlanta Journal and the Atlanta Constitution.

COX ALSO operated stations WHIO and WHIO-TV in Dayton, WSB and WSB-TV in Atlanta and WCKT and WCKR radio and TV in Miami.

Cox was born March 31, 1870, on a farm near Jacksonburg, Butler County, Ohio. His formal education ended after two years of high school, but at 16 he took a teacher's examination and passed it.

He taught for a few terms then joined a brother-in-law who was editor of a newspaper in Middletown. Cox worked as a printer's devil, parttime reporter and general handy man. He later joined the Cincinnati Enquirer where, within a few years, he became a political writer.

His political interests developed and in 1908 he was elected the U. S. House of Representatives from Ohio's 3rd Dist. Two years later he was re-elected.

At the end of his second term, he ran for governor and was elected. He served in 1913-15, 1917-Ohio's first three-time chief executive. He was defeated for the 1915-1917 term.

Cox's son, James Jr., said no organizational changes are contemplated among the Cox newspapers. He said:

"We'll simply go along as we have been."

Besides James Jr., Cox is survived by his wife, Margaretta Cox, Dayton, his other son, John, New Rochelle, N.Y.; two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Glover, Honolulu, and Mrs. Anne Chambers, Atlanta, Ga.; and five grandchildren.

56 Missing In Dutch Plane Crash

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—A Dutch airliner plunged into the sea off northwest New Guinea before dawn today. By early afternoon hope was being abandoned for finding alive any of 56 persons listed as missing.

There were 17 children aboard the KLM plane and most were believed among the missing. At least one child was among the 11 passengers and the stewardess who were rescued.

Native boats and launches from the Dutch destroyer Koretnauer searching the area for survivors recovered 11 bodies.

Dr. I. A. Aler, president of KLM airlines, said on the basis of information available, it appeared the plane developed engine trouble and made a forced landing on the ocean.

He said hope had almost been given up of finding alive any of the missing.

KLM listed the nationalities of the missing as 53 Dutch and 3 Britons.

The Lockheed Super-Constellation, carrying 59 passengers and a crew of 9, plunged into 600 feet of water shortly before dawn five miles off Biak Island.

The plane, the Neutron, was on a regular flight to Amsterdam by way of Manila, Jakarta, Bangkok, Rangoon, Karachi and Rome.

George Baldridge Will Be Eligible For Parole Sept. 1

Judge John P. Case has received notice from the State Pardon and Parole Commission that George Baldridge, taken to the Ohio Penitentiary Nov. 27, 1956, to serve one to 20 years for manslaughter in the shotgun slaying of Game Protector Irvin J. Patrick Nov. 15, 1955, will be eligible for hearing for parole on and after Sept. 1.

Baldridge, former sheriff of Adams County, was first taken to the penitentiary March 9, immediately after his conviction here. However, he was released within a few days when his attorneys obtained a stay of execution of sentence in the Court of Appeals. The case then went through the Court of Appeals and was remanded back to the Common Pleas Court here for execution of sentence.

In the meantime, Baldridge faced a damage action for $150,000 filed by Mrs. Patrick. She was awarded judgment of $80,000 for the death of her husband.

Baldridge's attorneys carried this case to the Court of Appeals where it is still pending.

5 Dayton Prisoners Beat Turnkey, Fail In Escape Effort

DAYTON (AP)—Five inmates of the Montgomery County jail were thwarted in an attempted jail break early today, but a jailer was beaten before police arrived to quell the escape attempt.

Jailer Jo Swigrt was taken to a hospital for treatment for bruises and abrasions, then discharged.

Sheriff Bernard Keiter reported the five prisoners somehow obtained a hacksaw and cut their way through a metal plate from their cell block and by this means opened four cell doors. The five men were identified as James Brown, 25, held for armed robbery; Fred Wilson, 19, accused of burglary; William Cox, 19, an escapee from the Boys Industrial School; Robert Rogan, 27, held for armed robbery and parole violations, and Arthur Fitzgerald, 52, held on a forgery charge. Fitzgerald is from Sheridan, Wyo., and the others are from Dayton.

Baptist Preacher Is Slated As Star Witness in Hearing

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The U. S. government was ready today to call a star witness in the Clinton contempt trial, a Baptist minister who was beaten for escorting six Negro students to a newly integrated high school.

He is the Rev. Paul Turner, 34, a native of Tennessee and pastor of Clinton First Baptist Church. The beating occurred across the street from Clinton High School last Dec. 4.

Rev. Mr. Turner is one of the main props in the government's case against the 15 defendants because part of the charge against them is that they committed "overt acts."

U. S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. must prove:

1. That the 14 Tennesseans and Northern Segregationist John Kasper "knowingly" violated a U. S. District Court order forbidding interference with the high school integration.

2. That they conspired together to defy this injunction.

3. THAT, as a result, the "overt acts" were committed resulting in violence. At one point, 100 state troopers and more than 600 National Guardsmen, with tanks, were sent to Clinton to restore order.

Rev. Mr. Turner has told reporters that one of the defendants, Clyde Cook, 35, bloodied his nose. Others beat him about the body, he said.

The trial has now come to the fierce part of the Clinton story.

A witness quoted Alonzo Bullock, 50, carpenter and sometime preacher, as saying, "Unless they get the niggers out of Clinton High School, there's going to be some killed."

Others said they were assailed with—

"Let's kill the nigger-lovers!"

Such testimony came from the government's witnesses, James Leo Burnett, 35, an industrial plant supervisor, and Sidney Davis, 39, Clinton lawyer. They both joined Rev. Mr. Turner the day he escorted the Negroes to the high school.

TV 'Killer' Set To Be Tested; Boy Is Electrocuted

CHICAGO (AP)—The General Electric Co. plans to re-examine its widely distributed 1958 17 - inch portable metal set as a result of the electrocution of a 6-year-old boy in his home Sunday.

GE is sending engineers to Chicago to conduct an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of the boy, Howard Erenstein Jr.

Howard and Pearl Erenstein, the boy's parents, testified at an inquest Monday that their son brushed against an aluminum cart on which the GE portable model rested.

There was a crackling sound and the boy fell to the floor. The coroner said it appeared the boy's body was "grounded" by moisture on a kitchen cabinet.

'Experts' See No Coverup By Sam Sheppard's Relatives

NEW YORK (AP)—A panel of four "top experts" have dismissed all possibilities that relatives of Dr. Sam Sheppard "covered up" any evidence in the Sheppard murder case, mystery writer Erle Stanley Gardner reports in the August issue of Argosy magazine.

Dr. Sheppard was sentenced to life imprisonment for the slaying of his wife Marilyn at their home near Cleveland in 1954.

Gardner said there had been insinuations that the Sheppard family removed fingerprints, magnified the story of the intruder Dr. Sam Sheppard claims killed his wife, and in other ways directed evidence away from Sheppard.

Gardner said lie detector tests were given to Sheppard's brothers, Richard and Stephan, also doctors, and their wives, Dorothy and Betty and that the tests prove they did nothing to aid Sheppard illegally.

The tests were given by "The Court of Last Resort" a group that interests itself in cases officially closed. It is headed by Gardner.

The four experts are John Reid, Dr. Lemoyne Snyder, C. B. Hanscome and Alex Lee Gregory. All but Snyder are lie detector examiners and Snyder, Hanscome and Gregory are past presidents of the Academy for Scientific Interrogation.

Gardner again wrote that the Court of Last Resort would like a lie detector test given Sheppard himself, but in Columbus, warden Ralph Alvis of the Ohio Penitentiary said the court had never asked him to authorize the test.

Alvis added, however, that he would not permit Sheppard to take the test because of the "hundreds and hundreds and hundreds" of prisoners who ask for one.

"If I let Sheppard have one, I have to honor the request of all the others and there are just too many," he said.

New Trial Chances Held To Be 'Slim'

CANTON (AP)—Harry Bundy, convicted in a holdup slaying, said he feels "my chances of getting a new trial are pretty slim."

But the 40-year-old Zanesville man added after a hearing on a new trial motion Monday:

"My lawyers and I will appeal the case and feel we stand a good chance of getting an appeal."

Common Pleas Judge John Rossetti has asked both sides for briefs on the new trial motion, which was filed on the basis of "newly found evidence." The judge said he would make his decision in several days.

Monday defense attorneys presented witnesses to contradict trial testimony of Miss Martha Warnack, 14. The girl said she saw Bundy and Russell McCoy, 22, of Zanesville at the Uniontown, Ohio grocery where two men were shot to death. McCoy, who testified against Bundy, is under indictment in the double killing Nov. 23.

Mrs. Kay Priester of Uniontown said she was in the grocery shortly before the holdup and did not see Bundy or Miss Warnack and her girl friends there.

Beachem was released from a Charlotte hospital after treatment for minor injuries.

Link to Marilyn Sheppard's Death Considered

Florida Prisoner Confesses Slaying

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland police said today a 22-year-old fugitive from a Florida state road camp has admitted that in 1954 he beat to death a Cleveland woman who surprised him burglarizing her home.

Detectives said the youth, held at Deland, Fla., did not mention Marilyn Sheppard as his alleged victim, but the story he told Sheriff Rodney B. Thursby vaguely resembled circumstances in the widely publicized Sheppard murder.

But Capt. David E. Kerr, head of the Cleveland homicide bureau said he placed no credence in the "confession."

Mrs. Sheppard, whose husband, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard is serving a life term in the Ohio Penitentiary for the crime, was killed by 35 blows of an unknown weapon in the bedroom of her home on the lakeshore in Bay Village. The slaying occurred in the early hours of July 4, 1954.

Police said Sheriff Thursby told them the youth, identified as Donald J. Wedler, said he wanted to get the Cleveland crime off his conscience.

Wedler was imprisoned at Deland as an escapee from a state road camp where he was serving a breaking and entering sentence from Tampa, according to Chief Volusia County Jailer J. T. Deloach.

Deland could give no home address for Wedler. He said the man had "been all over" and had been in reformatories "at several different places."

Cleveland police said Sheriff Thursby gave them this account from the alleged confession:

Wedler arrived in Cleveland from California in July 1954, stole a car and remembered "driving over a big bridge into a residential district outside Cleveland."

The youth was quoted as saying he parked the car, took an iron bar from a suitcase he was carrying and entered a home.

"I saw a man asleep on a couch," he was quoted. "I went upstairs and there was a woman asleep in one of the rooms. While I was ransacking a dresser she woke up."

The sheriff quoted Wedler as saying he struck the woman with the iron bar "two or three times" and ran down the stairs, encountering a man on the way. The bloodstained iron bar allegedly was thrown into "a large body of water."

Wedler said he abandoned the car, after changing his clothes, then left Cleveland.

Capt. Kerr said Mrs. Sheppard's bedroom had not been ransacked and she was struck at least 35 times on the head and face. He noted also that Dr. Sheppard claimed he was twice knocked out fighting his wife's assailant.

Detective Inspector Thomas Murphy also discounted the Florida confession, but he said he would ask Sheriff Thursby to mail him the prisoner's complete statement for study.

Wedler was described as nearly 6 feet tall with blond hair cut in "duck-tail" fashion. Dr. Sheppard maintained the man he fought with in the house and outside was "a large man" with dark, bushy hair.

School Levy Renewal To Be Put to Voters; 4 New Teachers Hired

The Washington C. H. school board Monday night adopted a resolution to submit a proposal for the renewal of the 2-mill levy to the voters next November and adopted the $588,840 budget for next year.

The levy, which would run for five years until 1962, is calculated to produce approximately $40,000. It would replace the levy that has been in effect.

The budget was adopted after no one had come to the public hearing two weeks ago. It calls for anticipated expenditures of $588,840 as compared to this year's budget of $576,656, an increase of $8,184. An increase in enrollment has made it necessary to add classrooms and teachers.

THE BOARD also approved renting two emergency classrooms in Grace Methodist Church again for $200 a month, a decrease of $50 a month from last year's charge.

The board also approved an agreement to rent three emergency classrooms in the First Christian Church for $188 a month.

Janitorial services and supplies are to be furnished by the schools for emergency classrooms in both churches.

Approval of the renewal of the school accident insurance policy "as a service to parents and students" and of the First National Bank as the depository for school funds was given with virtually no discussion.

AFTER RUNNING into difficulty in finding principals for the Sunnyside, Central and Eastside schools, the board voted to raise the extra pay for principals who are fulltime teachers from $400 to $600 a year. No applicants for these three positions were considered by the board at this meeting. The three former principals resigned: Leo Whiteside at Sunnyside, Miss Helen Skaggs at Central and Mrs. Ruth Hopkins at Eastside. They said the responsibilities of principal and teacher combined were too great. Mrs. Hopkins remains as a teacher, but Whiteside and Miss Skaggs have taken positions in Dayton.

FRED DOMENICO was named athletic director of the high school with $500 additional pay, but he was relieved of his duties as assistant basketball coach, which carried $200 extra pay. He will continue as the head football and track coach in addition to the athletic directorship.

The high school has had no athletic director for several years.

A new industrial arts teacher as assistant to G. B. Vance, head of the department and three new elementary school teachers were employed.

John O'Rourke, was accepted for an industrial arts teacher and assistant football coach. A native of Wellsville, Ohio, he has been teaching and coaching in the Center, Colo., High School. He will get an extra $200 for coaching duties. He will carry a full classroom schedule.

Miss Katherine Hackett and Mrs. Mary Lou Shoop Hidy, both graduates of Washington C. H. High School were voted cadet certificates as elementary school teachers. The third elementary teacher is Miss Lenore Young. She has a master's degree and has taught elementary education courses in Ohio State University and the University of Florida.

THIS LEAVES, Supt. W. A. Smith told the board, vacancies for four more elementary sixth grade teachers, three of whom would be principals.

A remedial reading teacher and an elementary school arts teacher also remain to be employed.

Robert L. Neumann was granted $100 extra pay for extra duties and the salary of Marvin Merritt, who was employed last month as teacher and assistant coach, was raised $200 a year when a re-check of his credits raised him up inthe fixed salary scale.

The board interviewed two more applicants for high school principal, bringing the total to five. Seven others have been considered, but not interviewed personally.

Payment of $36,823.13 in bills, including the $33,175 payroll, was authorized.

Development Corp. Stock Sale Campaign

brings the people of the community into a closer partnership, he declared, because of their common interest and investment and he added "this is important to prospective industries whose officers want this assurance that they are wanted in the community."

Most good industries, Simonin said, are not interested in gifts—although some need financial help in the form of loans or lease-purchase agreements. "What industries want," he explained "is help in smoothing the path for locating plants in the communities." This was in support of his advice to make industrial sites readily available.

THE SALE of stock at $25 a share is to be handled by nine teams of men, each headed by one of the new corporation'a directors. Each team was given a list of prospective purchasers and a prepared leaflet which gives the answers to 15 key questions.

It was said at the outset that one of the objectives was to have as many stockholders as possible and, thus spreading the interest in "investment in your future" over as many individuals as possible.

While the corporation is capitalized for $200,000, the object of the present campaign is to sell only half of it. There was no limit, however.

Tom Mark is general chairman of the campaign.

Thd campaign teams are:

Tom Murray, capt., Thurman Sheppard, Jim Chakeres, Richard Patton and Floyd West;

Paul Rodenfels, capt., Thomas Gormley, Bob Lewis and John R. Craig;

George Baker, capt., Arthur H. Finley, M. Grove Davis, A. H. Hutton and G. Damon Baker;

Richard R. Willis, capt., Ralph Cook, Charles Meriweather, Carroll Halliday and Hilbert Myers;

Perse Harlow, capt., Don Murdock and John Breiner;

Ben F. Norris, capt., Robert Boyd and Horace Jacobs;

H. H. Denton, capt., Mac Dews Sr. and Wayne Bower.

These teams, it was explaned, may be enlarged as the campaign progresses. A progress meeting of the campaigners was scheduled for July 25 and another 10 days later. The purpose of these meetings will be to make certain everyone is given an opportunity to invest in his future and to minimize duplication of calls on prospective investors.

East German Cleric Heard at Parley

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Bishop Gottfried Noth, bishop of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Saxony, East Germany declared here Monday that the church "lives in the midst of the world, and has manifold relationships with the world which constitute the ever present threat to her freedom."

These threats to freedom can come, he said, "to both the church which is free in all aspects of her external affairs, as well as to the church which must live without such freedom."

Canadian Wheat Imports Labeled As 'Fantastic'

NORWALK (AP)—A New London wheat farmer has protested the unloading of 43,778 bushels of Canadian wheat at an Ohio port.

John Donaldson called the import a "fantastic thing in the light of this allotment business."

The grain was shipped to Huron from Ontario for use as livestock and poultry feed, according to Vern Freay, manager of the Eastern State Farmers Exchange of Huron, who received the shipment.

Because of a nationwide wheat surplus, farmers in Ohio and 35 other states must include wheat grown for livestock feed within their acreage allotments set by the government.

Some 100 Ohio farmers have been fined for growing more wheat than their quotas allow.

Baker Ready To Donate Belle Aire School Site

G. Damon Baker, owner of the 167-acre tract in Belle Aire, which the state Board of Education refused to transfer from the Miami Trace school district to the Washington C. H. school district although it is now a part of the city through annexation, said Monday night that he is ready to give two acres to the school district for a new elementary school building "as soon as the tract is transferred to the city district."

He made the statement at a meeting of the Washington C. H. Board of Education meeting just before it was formally opened.

Baker told board members that he would have the land needed for the school surveyed as soon as the site and its size is selected by the board. He said he would donate the two acres at the intersection of High St. and Comfort Lane in Belle Aire and would sell at the valuation of the land for tax purposes any additional land the board felt was needed.

(The Cherry Hill and Rose Ave. schools are both on grounds of approximately two acres in area.)

BAKER TOLD the board members he would execute the deed to the tract selected and place it escrow, to be held until the transfer of the 167 acres to the city school district is approved.

Baker said he feels "an obligation to the people who have their homes in Belle Aire and nearby subdivisions." He pointed out that a school in Belle Aire (already a part of the city's development program for which $645,000 bond issue was voted last November) will save money in transportation and permit the children to go to their homes for lunch.

Baker commented that he "intended to donate the school site to the city regardless of whether another house ever is built in this area." He pointed out that the school would serve hundreds of children in that part of Belle Aire already in the city school district as well as others in the recently built-up sections of Sunnyside.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

termined by the secretary.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices charged them.

Under present law, other grains that compete with corn—oats, barley and sorghum grain—may be supported between zero and 90 per cent of parity. Benson would put corn in the same support class with them.

He also would eliminate corn planting allotments with which farmers must comply to be eligible for supports, thus putting corn in the same class as the other feed grains in this regard.

The support level for corn would be determined first. Then the rate for other grains would be calculated on the basis of their comparable feeding value, location, storability and other factors.

THIS YEAR'S corn crop is to be supported at 77 per cent of parity and the other feed grains at 70 per cent — all at levels higher than would prevail under the secretary's recommendation.

Benson said lower supports would offer farmers less incentive to produce surpluses for government storage. Record surpluses of corn now exist.

The secretary said his recommendation would have these consequences for farmers:

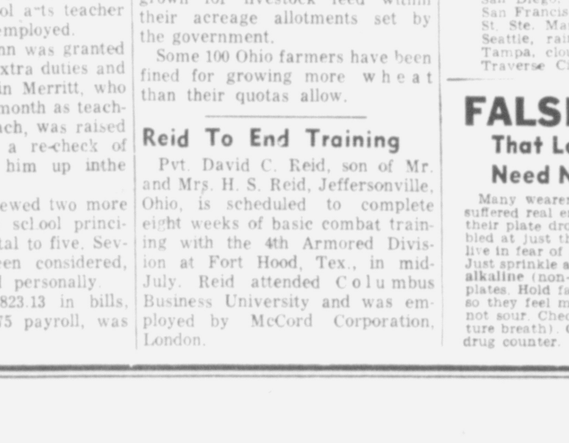

1. Prices of feed grains and income of some commercial feed grain producers would be "some lower."

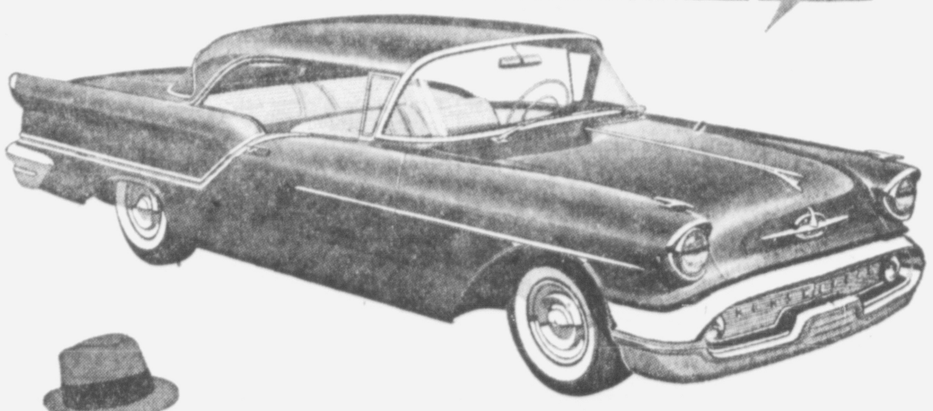

2. Livestock production would be increased in the intermediate future, and there would be the possibility that slightly lower livestock prices might result.

School Levy Renewal To Be Put to Voters; 4 New Teachers Hired

The Washington C. H. school board Monday night adopted a resolution to submit a proposal for the renewal of the 2-mill levy to the voters next November and adopted the $588,840 budget for next year.

The levy, which would run for five years until 1962, is calculated to produce approximately $40,000. It would replace the levy that has been in effect.

The budget was adopted after no one had come to the public hearing two weeks ago. It calls for anticipated expenditures of $588,840 as compared to this year's budget of $576,656, an increase of $8,184. An increase in enrollment has made it necessary to add classrooms and teachers.

THE BOARD also approved renting two emergency classrooms in Grace Methodist Church again for $200 a month, a decrease of $50 a month from last year's charge.

The board also approved an agreement to rent three emergency classrooms in the First Christian Church for $188 a month.

Janitorial services and supplies are to be furnished by the schools for emergency classrooms in both churches.

Approval of the renewal of the school accident insurance policy "as a service to parents and students" and of the First National Bank as the depository for school funds was given with virtually no discussion.

AFTER RUNNING into difficulty in finding principals for the Sunnyside, Central and Eastside schools, the board voted to raise the extra pay for principals who are fulltime teachers from $400 to $600 a year. No applicants for these three positions were considered by the board at this meeting. The three former principals resigned: Leo Whiteside at Sunnyside, Miss Helen Skaggs at Central and Mrs. Ruth Hopkins at Eastside. They said the responsibilities of principal and teacher combined were too great. Mrs. Hopkins remains as a teacher, but Whiteside and Miss Skaggs have taken positions in Dayton.

* * *

FRED DOMENICO was named athletic director of the high school with $500 additional pay, but he was relieved of his duties as assistant basketball coach, which carried $200 extra pay. He will continue as the head football and track coach in addition to the athletic directorship.

The high school has had no athletic director for several years.

A new industrial arts teacher as assistant to G. B. Vance, head of the department and three new elementary school teachers were employed.

John O'Rourke, was accepted for an industrial arts teacher and assistant football coach. A native of Wellsville, Ohio, he has been teaching and coaching in the Center, Colo., High School. He will get an extra $200 for coaching duties. He will carry a full classroom schedule.

Miss Katherine Hackett and Mrs. Mary Lou Shoop Hidy, both graduates of Washington C. H. High School were voted cadet certificates as elementary school teachers. The third elementary teacher is Miss Lenore Young. She has a master's degree and has taught elementary education courses in Ohio State University and the University of Florida.

THIS LEAVES, Supt. W. A. Smith told the board, vacancies for four more elementary sixth grade teachers, three of whom would be principals.

A remedial reading teacher and an elementary school arts teacher also remain to be employed.

Robert L. Neumann was granted $100 extra pay for extra duties and the salary of Marvin Merritt, who was employed last month as teacher and assistant coach, was raised $200 a year when a re-check of his credits raised him up inthe fixed salary scale.

The board interviewed two more applicants for high school principal, bringing the total to five. Seven others have been considered, but not interviewed personally.

Payment of $36,823.13 in bills, including the $33,175 payroll, was authorized.

Development Corp. Stock Sale Campaign

brings the people of the community into a closer partnership, he declared, because of their common interest and investment and he added "this is important to prospective industries whose officers want this assurance that they are wanted in the community."

Most good industries, Simonin said, are not interested in gifts—although some need financial help in the form of loans or lease-purchase agreements. "What industries want," he explained "is help in smoothing the path for locating plants in the communities." This was in support of his advice to make industrial sites readily available.

THE SALE of stock at $25 a share is to be handled by nine teams of men, each headed by one of the new corporation'a directors. Each team was given a list of prospective purchasers and a prepared leaflet which gives the answers to 15 key questions.

It was said at the outset that one of the objectives was to have as many stockholders as possible and, thus spreading the interest in "investment in your future" over as many individuals as possible.

While the corporation is capitalized for $200,000, the object of the present campaign is to sell only half of it. There was no limit, however.

Tom Mark is general chairman of the campaign.

Thd campaign teams are:

Tom Murray, capt., Thurman Sheppard, Jim Chakeres, Richard Patton and Floyd West;

Paul Rodenfels, capt., Thomas Gormley, Bob Lewis and John R. Craig;

George Baker, capt., Arthur H. Finley, M. Grove Davis, A. H. Hutton and G. Damon Baker;

Richard R. Willis, capt., Ralph Cook, Charles Meriweather, Carroll Halliday and Hilbert Myers;

Perse Harlow, capt., Don Murdock and John Breiner;

Ben F. Norris, capt., Robert Boyd and Horace Jacobs;

H. H. Denton, capt., Mac Dews Sr. and Wayne Bower.

These teams, it was explaned, may be enlarged as the campaign progresses. A progress meeting of the campaigners was scheduled for July 25 and another 10 days later. The purpose of these meetings will be to make certain everyone is given an opportunity to invest in his future and to minimize duplication of calls on prospective investors.

East German Cleric Heard at Parley

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Bishop Gottfried Noth, bishop of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Saxony, East Germany declared here Monday that the church "lives in the midst of the world, and has manifold relationships with the world which constitute the ever present threat to her freedom."

These threats to freedom can come, he said, "to both the church which is free in all aspects of her external affairs, as well as to the church which must live without such freedom."

The conference here is one of seven preceding the third assembly of the Lutheran World Federation in Minneapolis Aug. 15-25.

Canadian Wheat Imports Labeled As 'Fantastic'

NORWALK (AP)—A New London wheat farmer has protested the unloading of 43,778 bushels of Canadian wheat at an Ohio port.

John Donaldson called the import a "fantastic thing in the light of this allotment business."

The grain was shipped to Huron from Ontario for use as livestock and poultry feed, according to Vern Freay, manager of the Eastern State Farmers Exchange of Huron, who received the shipment.

Because of a nationwide wheat surplus, farmers in Ohio and 35 other states must include wheat grown for livestock feed within their acreage allotments set by the government.

Some 100 Ohio farmers have been fined for growing more wheat than their quotas allow.

Baker Ready To Donate Belle Aire School Site

G. Damon Baker, owner of the 167-acre tract in Belle Aire, which the state Board of Education refused to transfer from the Miami Trace school district to the Washington C. H. school district although it is now a part of the city through annexation, said Monday night that he is ready to give two acres to the school district for a new elementary school building "as soon as the tract is transferred to the city district."

He made the statement at a meeting of the Washington C. H. Board of Education meeting just before it was formally opened.

Baker told board members that he would have the land needed for the school surveyed as soon as the site and its size is sel cted by the board. He said he would donate the two acres at the intersection of High St. and Comfort Lane in Belle Aire and would sell at the valuation of the land for tax purposes any additional land the board felt was needed.

(The Cherry Hill and Rose Ave. schools are both on grounds of approximately two acres in area.)

BAKER TOLD the board members he would execute the deed to the tract selected and place it in escrow, to be held until the transfer of the 167 acres to the city school district is approved.

Baker said he feels "an obligation to the people who have their homes in Belle Aire and nearby subdivisions." He pointed out that a school in Belle Aire (already a part of the city's development program for which $645,000 bond issue was voted last November) will save money in transportation and permit the children to go to their homes for lunch.

Baker commented that he "intended to donate the school site to the city regardless of whether another house ever is built in this area." He pointed out that the school would serve hundreds of children in that part of Belle Aire already in the city school district as well as others in the recently built-up sections of Sunnyside.

Three from Here Attend Funeral

Three Washington C. H. women, Mrs. J. Earl McLean, Mrs. Millard H. Weidinger and Mrs. Loren D Hynes, accompanied Mrs. Harold Haworth and Mrs. Fred Carroll of Wilmington to Columbus for funeral services for Wilbur C. Dyer in the Schoedinger Funeral Home Saturday.

Mrs. Dyer is well known here as a state chaplain of the Daughters of the American Revolution and as the immediate past president of the Ohio Society of Daughters of 1812.

Dr. Dyer's death came unexpectedly only a month after his retirement as principal of Linden-McKinley High School in Columbus, while he and Mrs. Dyer were at their summer home near South Bloomingville.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices charged them.

Under present law, other grains that compete with corn—oats, barley and sorghum grain—may be supported between zero and 90 per cent of parity. Benson would put corn in the same support class with them.

He also would eliminate corn planting allotments with which farmers must comply to be eligible for supports, thus putting corn in the same class as the other feed grains in this regard.

The support level for corn would be determined first. Then the rate for other grains would be calculated on the basis of their comparable feeding value, location, storability and other factors.

THIS YEAR'S corn crop is to be supported at 77 per cent of parity and the other feed grains at 70 per cent — all at levels higher than would prevail under the secretary's recommendation.

Benson said lower supports would offer farmers less incentive to produce surpluses for government storage. Record surpluses of corn now exist.

The secretary said his recommendation would have these consequences for farmers:

1. Prices of feed grains and income of some commercial feed grain producers would be "some lower."

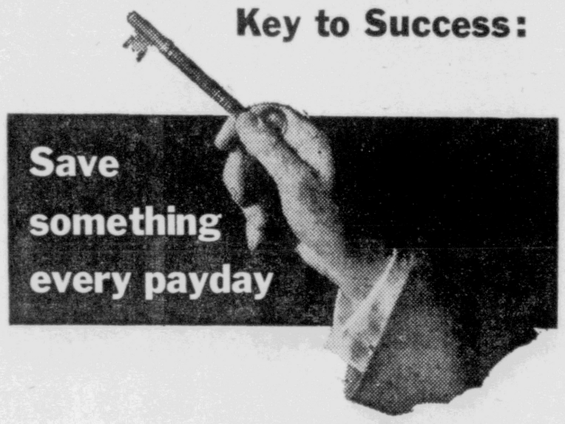

2. Livestock production would be increased in the intermediate future, and there would be the possibility that slightly lower livestock prices might result.

Indonesia is approximately one-fourth as large as the United States.

Parking Problem and Pedestrian Troubles

Even in a city like Washington C. H. the parking problem seems to be growing.

Nearly every day most any one can hear complaints about lack of space to park the family car while shopping is being done. When a motorist has to walk three or four blocks to pick up his or her car there are some sour comments.

What all this is leading to has become quite a question. In a couple of Ohio cities, we are told, more people are resorting to bicycles than ever before in doing their shopping; at that, we have seen a number of bicycles parked in the uptown streets here each taking up complete car spaces.

We are a very demanding people in these days of rush and tension. We have heard reports of people who feel that they have to use a high powered car to go as far as the corner grocery for a quart of milk or a loaf of bread.

Just about everyone knows that there is no more costly way of doing little short distance errands than by private motor car. However, as auto manufacturers and others have discovered expense seems to mean little when the average American sets out for work or to make a shopping trip.

However the day may not be too far away when private motoring within small cities and even villages, is likely to drop off.

One broadly recognized municipal planner recently is reported as saying, "Either the motor car will drive us all out of our cities, or the cities will have to drive out the motor car—not by absolute prohibition, of course, but by restrictions of size and access, favoring small cars perhaps little bigger than baby carriages . . ."

The suggestion may seem far-fetched and amusing, but in more and more cities ordinances are being passed restricting downtown parking and blocking off certain side streets during rush hours. Moreover, there is at present a modest but noticeable trend in the United States towards smaller cars which are easily maneuvered in heavy traffic.

A report recently from abroad was that things have become so bad in Rome that people are banding together at busy corners and rushing en masse into vehicle-snarled streets, forcing motorists to stop and give them passage. Maybe in the United States some similar reaction against the jamming of city thoroughfares will take place—but the clearing of downtown sections should be done by law rather than by pedestrian demonstrations.

U. S. Expected To Relax Ban On Newsmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department reportedly is planning to end its ban on the travel of U.S. newsmen into Red China.

Secretary of State Dulles, it was learned Sunday, may announce a new administration decision on the controversial issue next weekend. He meets Thursday with several leaders in the newsgathering field in an effort to get their backing for a compromise plan for China news coverage.

The question of U. S. newsmen being barred from travel to China has been a major problem for Dulles for months. In August 1956, the Peiping regime lifted a seven-year ban on U.S. reporters, and gave 15 newsmen permission to enter that country.

But the State Department said such travel would violate U.S. policy. Subsequently, three American newsmen defied the ban.

Dulles has gradually retreated from his original firm stand. He and his advisers apparently now prefer a plan to allow coverage of Red China by representatives of newspapers and news services which covered the country before the Communists took over.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A CITY JUDGE, in the mountains on vacation, heard that one lazy native knew all the spots where the fish bit best, and lured him away from his work-bench. But his wife caught him sneaking off, and gave him an explosive piece of her mind in explicit terms.

The native, visibly chagrined, ignored the tirade till he and the judge were out of earshot, then said apologetically, "You won't believe this, Jedge, but when I fust met up with Ephy thirty years ago she wuz so durn purty and cuddly, I could have et her up." Then he added, "and I sure wish I'd done it, too!"

Irontonian Faces New Slaying Charge

IRONTON (AP)—For the second time in his life, 32-year-old Emerson Grayman of Lawrence County faces charges involving the fatal shooting of a man.

Carl Duvendeck, 31, of Ironton, died Sunday night in General Hospital here of gunshot wounds suffered during a tavern brawl.

Adam Duvendeck, father of the slain man, filed a charge of second-degree murder against Grayman. Arraignment is Wednesday.

Grayman served four years in Mansfield Reformatory for the 1943 fatal shooting of Dennis McMackin of Ironton, authorities said.

Cemetery 1900 Miles Long

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Did you know:

That the great wall of China, stretching 1,900 miles, is the world's longest cemetery. Built over 2,000 years ago, it is the last resting place of 200,000 workers who died during its construction.

That one American out of every five drinks an average of five cups of coffee daily.

That the porcupine's quill is actually a hollow hair. But try and tell that to anybody who has been stabbed by one!

That there are enough blood cells in the human race to carpet the surface of the entire world. (The big problem of the 20th century is to see that they aren't used for this purpose.

That there is a book out entitled, "Things You Can Buy For a Nickel." It's a short book.

That in Persia it is believed human tears are good for certain chronic diseases. So mourners at funerals often are presented with sponges to soak up their tears. Afterward the sponges are collected, wrung out and the tears bottled.

That Lola, the basset hound in the Broadway musical, "Li'l Abner," is as temperamental as any human star. She turns up her nose at ordinary water, insists on seltzer.

That Dr. Henry Gibbons gave this scientific description of a kiss: "The anatomical juxaposition of two vibicularis oris muscles in a state of contraction."

That, if you're planning a second honeymoon at Niagara Falls, you'd better not postpone it too long. Some experts believe the falls, which are steadily receding, will be gone in another 5,000 years.

That Montgomery Ward's new catalogue lists among the things you can buy by mail: mink stoles, an ice skating rink for children, a $6,695 diamond ring and a raincoat for your dog.

That it was Seneca, the Roman wise man, who observed, "Men do not care how nobly they live, but only how long, although it is within the reach of every man to live nobly, but within no man's power to live long."

The Status of Forces Treaty

By George Sokolsky

In 1951, the United States entered upon treaties with 13 countries NATO countries—by which the constitutional rights of American soldiers were cancelled while they were stationed in those countries.

The treaties are reciprocal, but as no foreign troops are stationed in the United States, except for a rare visit of foreign men-of-war to our posts, the reciprocity is fictitious and was so expected to be by the signatories.

There is no such treaty with Japan and all references to such a treaty are false. What does exist is an administrative agreement. Its provisions are similar to those of the Status of Forces treaty, but they contain an additional provision, namely, that Japanese courts shall have prior right of trial over American soldiers for injuries caused to a Japanese citizen, unless such injury is one "arising out of an act of ommission done in the performance of official duty."

Although no agency or government may deprive an American citizen of his constitutional rights, it actually can be done by the President, Congress, any official, even a policeman, unless the Supreme Court, by due process declares the act unconstitutional. Senator Roman Hruska, Nebraska has compiled a list of specific rights which an American soldier can lose under the status of Forces treaty:

"First — a right to bail.

Second — the right to be tried by a fair and impartial court.

Third — reasonable time to prepare defense after being informed of charges made against him.

Fourth — the right to be present at his trial.

Fifth — the right to be presumed innocent until proven guilty.

Sixth — the burden of proof on the government in all criminal cases to prove guilty beyond reasonable doubt.

Seventh — the right not to be compelled to testify against himself.

Eighth — the right not to be compelled to testify against himself.

Ninth — the right to cross examine the witnesses against him.

Tenth — protection against double jeopardy.

Eleventh - protection against ex post facto laws.

Twelfth - protection against bills of attainder."

This round dozen of rights reflects some of the most important in our lives and liberties. The Girard case brought this matter to a head, but the significance of the problem transcends Girard personally, who probably can get a better deal out of a Japanese court than out of an American court - martial. What is important are the Constitutional rights of an American.

These rights were intended to be limitations upon the government in the interest of the individual. And while it may be true that it would be more convenient for this or any government that these rights were not so specific, it is also true that the founding fathers intended that we should have them and established an orderly government of law based on them. They did not give consideration to the convenience of government nor to the difficulties which might be encountered in stationing American troops in foreign countries. Weak as they then were, hardly an organized nation, they built strong and effectively because they adhered to a philosophic idea, namely the natural rights and the dignity of man.

The American people were not aware of the Status of Forces treaty or its implicatons when it was ratified. Gradually the meaning of the treaty has become clear and offensive. On the other hand, it would now be difficult to keep our troops in some countries without some such provision. Perhaps in such circumstances, it would be preferable to bring our troops back home. That might be a test of their usefulness. If a government that needs our troops to defend its country is so weak that it cannot explain its position to its own people, it is really too weak to exist.

Our own government fears anti-American riots such as the communists provocated in Formosa over issues similar to those involved in the Girard case. This attitude is like submitting to blackmail; it never ends. A nation that lives in fear of riots against it in foreign countries, lays itself open to fomented antagonisms.

And is our administration in Washington sure that nothing will happen in this country? The American people are as volatile as the Japanese and as proud as the Saudi Arabians. They will not take it forever.

Don't Wear Sun Specs Just To Be Fashionable

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DO you wear sun glasses for needed protection, or merely because it is fashionable? If it is for the latter reason, you are making a mistake.

Anyone can buy a pair of sun glasses. Stores across the nation have their counters piled high with glasses of varied colors and shapes.

May Be Harmful

But buying promiscuously and wearing sun glasses may cause more harm than good.

For one thing, most of you probably do not need the protection some sun glasses offer. If you have light hued eyes—pale blue and gray—you probably are more susceptible to the glare of the sun than persons with eyes of darker shades. Because the glare is apt to be especially annoying and tiring to you, sun glasses may be in order.

Glasses Differ

However, there are sun glasses and there are sun glasses.

Select your pair very carefully. Cheaply ground glasses, or glasses which are not ground at all, may damage the eyes.

Properly ground and fitted, however, they can be very helpful by eliminating much of the sun's irritating ultraviolet and infra-red rays.

Use Prescription

If you have weak eyes, you have got to be doubly careful. Have your sun glasses made according to your prescription instead of buying the clip-on type lenses.

When you use clip-ons over your regular spectacles, the retina of your eye has to adapt itself to two levels of brightness.

Gazing At The Sun

While sun glasses are helpful in many instances, no commercially marketed sun glass, as a rule, is sufficiently dense to permit you to gaze directly at the sun without causing harm to your eyes. This becomes more and more evident with every eclipse of the sun and the numerous cases of retinal burns which follow.

A couple of other things to keep in mind.

In some cases, colored glass has still proved unsuccessful.

The Journal of the American Medical Association issued this warning about colored glass recently:

"It causes difficulties for drivers since colored lenses impair a driver's ability to discriminate colors."

Of course, sun glasses should never be worn in the dark. Colored lenses can reduce visibility to a dangerous degree at night.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department reportedly is planning to end its ban on the travel of U.S. newsmen into Red China.

Secretary of State Dulles, it was learned Sunday, may announce a new administration decision on the controversial issue next weekend. He meets Thursday with several leaders in the newsgathering field in an effort to get their backing for a compromise plan for China news coverage.

The question of U. S. newsmen being barred from travel to China has been a major problem for Dulles for months. In August 1956, the Peiping regime lifted a seven-year ban on U.S. reporters, and gave 15 newsmen permission to enter that country.

But the State Department said such travel would violate U.S. policy. Subsequently, three American newsmen defied the ban.

Dulles has gradually retreated from his original firm stand. He and his advisers apparently now prefer a plan to allow coverage of Red China by representatives of newspapers and news services which covered the country before the Communists took over.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A CITY JUDGE, in the mountains on vacation, heard that one lazy native knew all the spots where the fish bit best, and lured him away from his work-bench. But his wife caught him sneaking off, and gave him an explosive piece of her mind in explicit terms.

The native, visibly chagrined, ignored the tirade till he and the judge were out of earshot, then said apologetically, "You won't believe this, Jedge, but when I fust met up with Ephy thirty years ago she wuz so durn purty and cuddly, I could have et her up." Then he added, "and I sure wish I'd done it, too!"

Irontonian Faces New Slaying Charge

IRONTON (AP)—For the second time in his life, 32-year-old Emerson Grayman of Lawrence County faces charges involving the fatal shooting of a man.

Carl Duvendeck, 31, of Ironton, died Sunday night in General Hospital here of gunshot wounds suffered during a tavern brawl.

Adam Duvendeck, father of the slain man, filed a charge of second-degree murder against Grayman. Arraignment is Wednesday.

Grayman served four years in Mansfield Reformatory for the 1943 fatal shooting of Dennis McMackin of Ironton, authorities said.

Cemetery 1900 Miles Long

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Did you know:

That the great wall of China, stretching 1,900 miles, is the world's longest cemetery. Built over 2,000 years ago, it is the last resting place of 200,000 workers who died during its construction.

That one American out of every five drinks an average of five cups of coffee daily.

That the porcupine's quill is actually a hollow hair. But try and tell that to anybody who has been stabbed by one!

That there are enough blood cells in the human race to carpet the surface of the entire world. (The big problem of the 20th century is to see that they aren't used for this purpose.

That there is a book out entitled, "Things You Can Buy For a Nickel." It's a short book.

That in Persia it is believed human tears are good for certain chronic diseases. So mourners at funerals often are presented with sponges to soak up their tears. Afterward the sponges are collected, wrung out and the tears bottled.

That Lola, the basset hound in the Broadway musical, "Li'l Abner," is as temperamental as any human star. She turns up her nose at ordinary water, insists on seltzer.

That Dr. Henry Gibbons gave this scientific description of a kiss: "The anatomical juxaposition of two vibicularis oris muscles in a state of contraction."

That, if you're planning a second honeymoon at Niagara Falls, you'd better not postpone it too long. Some experts believe the falls, which are steadily receding, will be gone in another 5,000 years.

That Montgomery Ward's new catalogue lists among the things you can buy by mail: mink stoles, an ice skating rink for children, a $6,695 diamond ring and a raincoat for your dog.

That it was Seneca, the Roman wise man, who observed, "Men do not care how nobly they live, but only how long, although it is within the reach of every man to live nobly, but within no man's power to live long."

The Status of Forces Treaty

By George Sokolsky

In 1951, the United States entered upon treaties with 13 countries NATO countries—by which the constitutional rights of American soldiers were cancelled while they were stationed in those countries.

The treaties are reciprocal, but as no foreign troops are stationed in the United States, except for a rare visit of foreign men-of-war to our posts, the reciprocity is fictitious and was so expected to be by the signatories.

There is no such treaty with Japan and all references to such a treaty are false. What does exist is an administrative agreement. Its provisions are similar to those of the Status of Forces treaty, but they contain an additional provision, namely, that Japanese courts shall have prior right of trial over American soldiers for injuries caused to a Japanese citizen, unless such injury is one "arising out of an act of ommission done in the performance of official duty."

Although no agency or government may deprive an American citizen of his constitutional rights, it actually can be done by the President, Congress, any official, even a policeman, unless the Supreme Court, by due process declares the act unconstitutional. Senator Roman Hruska, Nebraska has compiled a list of specific rights which an American soldier can lose under the status of Forces treaty:

"First — a right to bail.

Second — the right to be tried by a fair and impartial court.

Third — reasonable time to prepare defense after being informed of charges made against him.

Fourth — the right to be present at his trial.

Fifth — the right to be presumed innocent until proven guilty.

Sixth — the burden of proof on the government in all criminal cases to prove guilty beyond reasonable doubt.

Seventh — the right not to be compelled to testify against himself.

Eighth — the right not to be compelled to testify against himself.

Ninth — the right to cross examine the witnesses against him.

Tenth — protection against double jeopardy.

Eleventh - protection against ex post facto laws.

Twelfth - protection against bills of attainder."

This round dozen of rights reflects some of the most important in our lives and liberties. The Girard case brought this matter to a head, but the significance of the problem transcends Girard personally, who probably can get a better deal out of a Japanese court than out of an American court - martial. What is important are the Constitutional rights of an American.

These rights were intended to be limitations upon the government in the interest of the individual. And while it may be true that it would be more convenient for this or any government that these rights were not so specific, it is also true that the founding fathers intended that we should have them and established an orderly government of law based on them. They did not give consideration to the convenience of government nor to the difficulties which might be encountered in stationing American troops in foreign countries. Weak as they then were, hardly an organized nation, they built strong and effectively because they adhered to a philosophic idea, namely the natural rights and the dignity of man.

The American people were not aware of the Status of Forces treaty or its implicatons when it was ratified. Gradually the meaning of the treaty has become clear and offensive. On the other hand, it would now be difficult to keep our troops in some countries without some such provision. Perhaps in such circumstances, it would be preferable to bring our troops back home. That might be a test of their usefulness. If a government that needs our troops to defend its country is so weak that it cannot explain its position to its own people, it is really too weak to exist.

Our own government fears anti-American riots such as the communists provocated in Formosa over issues similar to those involved in the Girard case. This attitude is like submitting to blackmail; it never ends. A nation that lives in fear of riots against it in foreign countries, lays itself open to fomented antagonisms.

And is our administration in Washington sure that nothing will happen in this country? The American people are as volatile as the Japanese and as proud as the Saudi Arabians. They will not take it forever.

Don't Wear Sun Specs Just To Be Fashionable

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DO you wear sun glasses for needed protection, or merely because it is fashionable? If it is for the latter reason, you are making a mistake.

Anyone can buy a pair of sun glasses. Stores across the nation have their counters piled high with glasses of varied colors and shapes.

May Be Harmful

But buying promiscuously and wearing sun glasses may cause more harm than good.

For one thing, most of you probably do not need the protection some sun glasses offer. If you have light hued eyes—pale blue and gray—you probably are more susceptible to the glare of the sun than persons with eyes of darker shades. Because the glare is apt to be especially annoying and tiring to you, sun glasses may be in order.

Glasses Differ

However, there are sun glasses and there are sun glasses.

Select your pair very carefully. Cheaply ground glasses, or glasses which are not ground at all, may damage the eyes.

Properly ground and fitted, however, they can be very helpful by eliminating much of the sun's irritating ultraviolet and infra-red rays.

Use Prescription

If you have weak eyes, you have got to be doubly careful. Have your sun glasses made according to your prescription instead of buying the clip-on type lenses.

When you use clip-ons over your regular spectacles, the retina of your eye has to adapt itself to two levels of brightness.

Gazing At The Sun

While sun glasses are helpful in many instances, no commercially marketed sun glass, as a rule, is sufficiently dense to permit you to gaze directly at the sun without causing harm to your eyes. This becomes more and more evident with every eclipse of the sun and the numerous cases of retinal burns which follow.

A couple of other things to keep in mind:

In some cases, colored glass has still proved unsuccessful.

The Journal of the American Medical Association issued this warning about colored glass recently:

"It causes difficulties for drivers since colored lenses impair a driver's ability to discriminate colors."

Of course, sun glasses should never be worn in the dark. Colored lenses can reduce visibility to a dangerous degree at night.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Some 45 or 50 years ago the first water - level bridge in Fayette County was built across East Fork of Paint Creek on the J. M. Willis farm, two miles north of Bloomingburg.

It was planned and built by Frank M. Kennedy, former Fayette County engineer for many years, and is believed to have been the first bridge of its kind in the United States.

It was similar to Rock Bridge, which was built some 30 years or more later, with dam across the stream in which tiles large enough to permit normal flow of the stream, were set. The top of the dam formed a bridge for carrying vehicles.

The structure was built of stone and concrete, and attracted a great deal of attention. It was used as the model for Rock Bridge.

Several years ago I noticed that U. S. Army engineers had constructed a similar dam across a shallow river 200 yards below a large dam built in the Quartz Mountains, in the extreme western part of Oklahoma.

LOAFING HARD WORK

A half century ago street corner loafing was the rule rather than the exception. I have seen loafers loitering about the streets for hours at a time, sitting on the curb, in windows, in stairways and on stairway railings.

When the first World War came, habitual loafers were ordered to get to work, or at least quit loafing uptown. This seems to have been the start of eliminating promiscous loafing in the business section of the city.

It is noted that there are not as many habitual loafers about the courthouse lawn as formerly, even though there are more pensioners than in the days when loafing was so pronounced.

Police also have done much toward causing loafers to move out of the business district.

Formerly many loafers congregated in front of pool rooms and other places, and frequently made remarks to women who were passing.

But apparently this type of loafing has gone, and if complaint is made to police about loiters congregating, they are ordered to move on.

It is now a real job, and hard work, to idle about the uptown district. The public generally frowns on such loitering.

WEEDS SOIL BUILDERS

One of the well known authorities on weeds announces that they are great soil builders, inasmuch as some of them have deep penetrating roots which bring up mineral and trace elements from the subsoil, making them available in the regular soil through the process of decay, etc.

Some of the poorest soil where allowed to grow up in weeds, is improved by the growth of weeds, it is pointed out by one man who has made a study of the subject.

The deep roots of some weeds make it possible for roots of crops to reach further into the subsoil after life-giving elements.

However, weeds continue to be a real problem in connection with farming. That is why spraying has been resorted to kill them and give crops a better chance.

NOT TOO DANGEROUS

It has now been more than 20 years since the first quarantine against corn borers was established in Fayette County. This east and west line as the corn borers was in the county no less than three years before it was moved farther South. Great fears were held as to how extensive the damage would be and how the pests could be controlled.

However, new types of corn borer resistant corn and some of the easier methods have been used to combat the borers. Apparently they are no more destructive now than they were 10 or 15 years ago. During ordinary seasons the damage to corn through borer activities has not been heavy in the community.

ABOUT HEDGE FENCES

Sometime ago I had an article regarding hedge fences in Fayette County and the tremendous task it was to get rid of them after years of neglect had permitted them to develop into full grown osage orange trees.

If the hedge fences were kept trimmed, they lasted for many years and some barbed wire stretched through them gave them strength and incurred respect for them by livestock which sought to get through.

George Garringer, of near the Fayette - Greene county line tells me that the fences apparently were the outgrowth of widespread sales made by a firm in London, Ohio, some 68 to 70 years ago.

The hedge was sold as "The Everlasting Fence" and a great many farmers fell for the idea and planted hedge fences.

As long as the fences were kept trimmed and in good shape, they answered the purpose, but when neglected for a few years they posed a problem that proved an expensive one in their removal.

The last row of osange orange trees I know of being removed, after growing out of a hedge fence, was on the Samuel Hoppes farm on the Sturgeon Mill and Rock Mills Rd. Bulldozers were used to remove the trees. Then they were piled and burned.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Great Russian offensive was launched on east theater of war and Germany rushed masses of reinforcements in to halt the drive.

Company M was mustered into the regular army and mobilized for service in the world war.

Camp Sherman was being rushed to completion for early training of 37,500 draftees.

A dozen young men, who volunteered for military service, left for camp. They were M. W. Clasgens, Lawrence Flesher, Donald Moore Albert Barney, Harold Counts, Ronald Dick, Orland Hays, Donald Andrews, Robert Jefferson, Hubert Murray, Will Mintern and Fred Pine.

Dillion's general store at Rock Mills was destroyed by fire.

Pea pack at the Sears & Nichols plant was 600,000 cans.

Another consignment of 228 horses was shipped from this city for government service.

New wheat was selling at $1.85 per bushel with little moving.

School enumeration in county showed 92 fewer pupils than enrolled last year.

Nationwide draft, recently put into effect, was to take 165 from Fayette County.

8 Raccoons Adopted by Cincy Family

CINCINNATI (AP)—Charles Rosebrook and his wife have taken over support of another family here—eight raccoons.

The costs are two loaves of bread a night and a little patience.

Mrs. Rosebrook said the mother raccoon had been a steady visitor for a few weeks until the Rosebrook vacation came up a month ago.

She said, "We were home for two weeks before she showed up again. Only this time she wasn't alone."

The newcomers were seven baby raccoons that since then have dined nightly on the Rosebrook loaves of bread.

The raccoons usually spend a couple of hours frolicking around the Rosebrook flower garden before leaving for the wooded area behind the house.

Rosebrook says they have learned one thing about the mother raccoon—she doesn't like beer.

He said, "She climbed up on a small table and knocked a glass of beer over on herself.

"She began fussing and ran over to a bowl of water and washed herself off."

Ohio Shuts Bookkeeping Year With Surplus of $46 Million

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio closed its bookkeeping year June 30 with a net surplus of $46,055,299, Gov. C. William O'Neill reports.

That total, added to estimated revenue of more than 899 millions in the next two years, will give the state a general fund total of more than 945 millions, he said.

Spending appropriations for the two-year period total 936½ million dollars. O'Neill said those figures show the state will wind up with a surplus of $8,670,677 on June 30, 1959, if departments live within the funds available to them.

That means, he said, "We have to exercise stringent economies and strict controls to see that no deficits are permitted to arise. We cannot permit deficits like those of the last biennium."

The governor said the surplus would have been about 88 millions if the Legislature had not made appropriations to meet deficits that piled up during the two-year period just ended.

O'Neill said revenue estimates for the next two years are more realistic than in recent years. He explained that the practice of underestimating income accounted for huge surpluses in past years.

"Our estimates are more realistic," he asserted. He said they had not been revised on the basis of experience of the last six months although returns from sales taxes, the state's largest single revenue source, run slightly less than expected. Other revenuse exceeded expectations, he added.

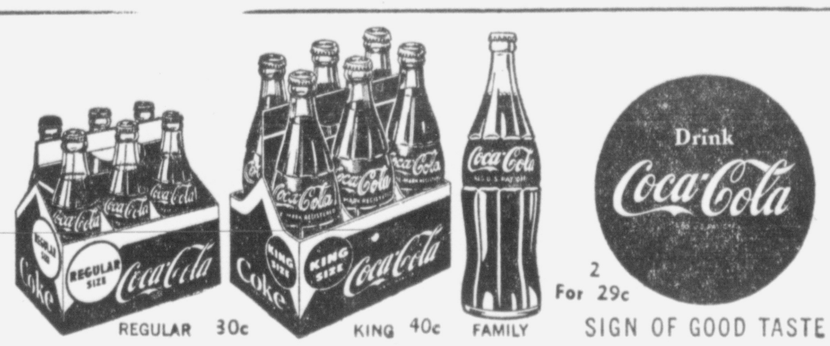

The governor recalled predictions in some quarters that the state might end the past two-year period some 50 million dollars in the red. He said that not only did not come about but predicted that the state would live within its income in the next two years.

Finance Director John Skipton recently ordered departments to live within their appropriations on a month to month basis. The governor indicated that policy would continue to avoid deficit spending.

Naturally these poles, and other wood near the ground, must be well protected against insects and decay. How Texas Eastern helps this blind keep its coat on

Neither summer heat, winter cold, nor housekeeper's soapy rag can make a Flexalum® Venetian blind peel its colorful coat . . . thanks, in part, to Texas Eastern.

Texas Eastern transports natural gas via pipeline from the Southwest for use in the Flemington, N. J., plant of Hunter Douglas Aluminum Corporation. Here, the gas is used to bake enamel finishes that won't chip, crack or peel on Flexalum® blind slats. Because temperature control is very critical in the short-cycle baking process used, clean natural gas, with its uniform heat, is the ideal fuel for the job.

TEXAS EASTERN SERVES THE COMPANIES THAT SERVE YOU

Flexalum® Venetian blind rail-strip is enameled by roller-coating and then baked in a gas-fired, horizontal, short-cycle baking oven. The high baking temperature is closely controlled to provide a durable, high gloss, scratch-resistant finish. City Gas Company of New Jersey—a Texas Eastern customer—supplies the natural gas.

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio closed its bookkeeping year June 30 with a net surplus of $46 055 299, Gov C. William O'Neill reports.

That total, added to estimated revenue of more than 899 millions in the next two years, will give the state a general fund total of more than 945 millions, he said.

Spending appropriations for the two-year period total 936½ million dollars. O'Neill said those figures show the state will wind up with a surplus of $8,670,677 on June 30, 1959, if departments live within the funds available to them.

That means, he said, "We have to exercise stringent economies and strict controls to see that no deficits are permitted to arise. We cannot permit deficits like those of the last biennium."

The governor said the surplus would have been about 88 millions if the Legislature had not made appropriations to meet deficits that piled up during the two-year period just ended.

O'Neill said revenue estimates for the next two years are more realistic than in recent years. He explained that the practice of underestimating income accounted for huge surpluses in past years.

"Our estimates are more realistic," he asserted. He said they had not been revised on the basis of experience of the last six months although returns from sales taxes, the state's largest single revenue source, run slightly less than expected. Other revenuse exceeded expectations, he added.

The governor recalled predictions in some quarters that the state might end the past two-year period some 50 million dollars in the red. He said that not only did not come about but predicted that the state would live within its income in the next two years.

Finance Director John Skipton recently ordered departments to live within their appropriations on a month to month basis. The governor indicated that policy would continue to avoid deficit spending

Make-It-with-Wool Entries Due July 17

All girls who want to participate in the "Make-It-With-Wool" contest should get their entries in by July 17, Mrs. Gerald Stephenson, the county chairman this year, said.

Mrs. Stephenson added that she wants to make up a list of the names of all the participants, too.

CUT BARN-BUILDING COSTS

PLAN AN ECONOMICAL POLE BARN USING PRESSURE-CREOSOTED WOOD

Putting up new farm buildings can be very expensive and time-consuming these days.

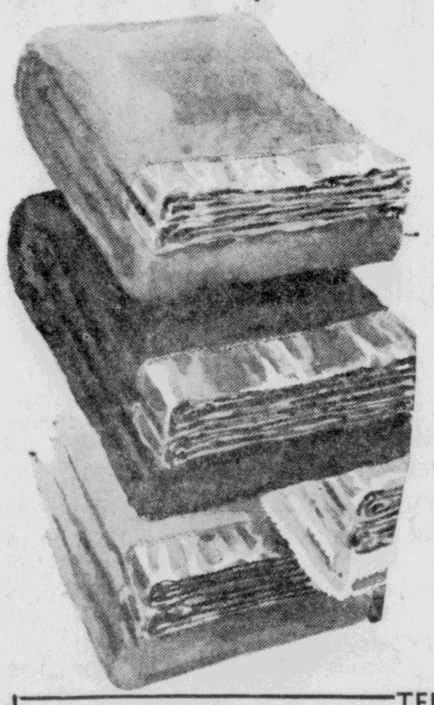

For many farmers the solution lies in an efficient, easily-constructed pole barn, built around poles set directly in the ground.

Naturally these poles, and other wood near the ground, must be well protected against insects and decay. That's why it's standard practice to assure long life and lasting strength by using only pressure-creosoted poles. We carry a large stock poles, lumber and posts pressure-treated with Barrett coal-tar creosote. Come in and look it over.

How Texas Eastern helps this blind keep its coat on

Neither summer heat, winter cold, nor housekeeper's soapy rag can make a Flexalum® Venetian blind peel its colorful coat . . . thanks, in part, to Texas Eastern.

Texas Eastern transports natural gas via pipeline from the Southwest for use in the Flemington, N. J., plant of Hunter Douglas Aluminum Corporation. Here, the gas is used to bake enamel finishes that won't chip, crack or peel on Flexalum® blind slats. Because temperature control is very critical in the short-cycle baking process used, clean natural gas, with its uniform heat, is the ideal fuel for the job.

NATURAL GAS PIPELINES OIL PRODUCTS

TEXAS EASTERN SERVES THE COMPANIES THAT SERVE YOU

Flexalum® Venetian blind rail-strip is enameled by roller-coating and then baked in a gas-fired, horizontal, short-cycle baking oven. The high baking temperature is closely controlled to provide a durable, high gloss, scratch-resistant finish. City Gas Company of New Jersey—a Texas Eastern customer—supplies the natural gas.

Natural gas serves you in more ways in the home and in industry than any other fuel

Remember when white was the accepted color for the bathroom. Not any more, thank goodness. Today's bathrooms vie with the beauty of the baths of old Rome—they are imaginatively colorful, cheerful and charming, regardless of size. Queen Elizabeth's Makeup Hailed by Expert on Beauty

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Women interested in skillful makeup could take some tips from Britain's Queen Elizabeth, says Thelma Holland, globetrotting beauty authority who supervised the makeup of the Queen and her ladies-in-waiting at the time of her coronation.

Elizabeth follows the rule of understatement in makeup, says Mrs. Holland — a safe rule for everyone. She has a flawless skin and doesn't need to plaster it with heavy foundation tints. In general she likes pinky tones in lipstick and cosmetics, having learned early in life that pink is the most flattering tone for practically all women.

She does not go in for heavy eye makeup, since her lashes and brows are naturally dark and well shaped, and her blue eyes are one of her most attractive features.

Actually, says Mrs. Holland, Queen Elizabeth doesn't need much advice in how to make up. The problems of the coronation were different, because at that time the questions of correct makeup for television, newsreel and still cameras had to be considered and a makeup had to be chosen which would be right both in outdoor daylight and inside Westminster Abbey.

In this dilemma, pink won again. A medium tone of Rose Rachel foundation and powder was used, with a pink toned lipstick.

Hostesses Urged To Shun Cocktails

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (AP) — A lady prohibitionist from Canada urging that modern man be taught to live without cocktails, says women could set the pace by serving non-alcoholic beverages at social functions.

Mrs. David Conly of Winnipeg said Monday:

"It might be a shock to the sophisticated to find lemonade in their cocktail glasses, but is is possible they would recover."

In ancient days, when there was a hail storm, the church bells were rung and the saints invoked.

In this dilemma, pink won again. A medium tone of Rose Rachel foundation and powder was used, with a pink-toned lipstick.

Hostesses Urged To Shun Cocktails

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (AP) — A lady prohibitionist from Canada urging that modern man be taught to live without cocktails, says women could set the pace by serving non-alcoholic beverages at social functions.

Mrs. David Conly of Winnipeg said Monday:

"It might be a shock to the sophisticated to find lemonade in their cocktail glasses, but is is possible they would recover."

In ancient days, when there was a hail storm, the church bells were rung and the saints invoked.

Actors' Ages Held Secret

Month of Birth Only Told by Press Agents

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Press agents' biographies of actors and actresses give the day of the month of their birth—but seldom the year.

One of the distinctions of Jimsey Somers is that she proudly lists her birth date as July 4, 1936. Another distinction is that she made her television dramatic debut in 1943. That's right, 1943, starring in the first televised NBC-TV drama, "Miracle of Alice Lorraine."

As a matter of fact, if old-time TV viewers will think back, Jimsey Somers was the first and best-known child star of television, a veritable Shirley Temple of the pioneer home screen.

Currently she is playing the 17-year-old daughter of Madeline Carroll in "The Affairs of Dr. Gentry' series on NBC radio (weekdays, 2:45 p.m., Eastern Daylight). She also has frequent dramatic roles in TV dramas—as a teen-ager, to her regret.

She feels that her teen-age role in "the Affairs of Dr. Gentry" is intelligently developed. But she believes, as a generalization, that TV dramas are tending to devlop a cliche type of character in teen-age roles: pony-tail hair-do, a squeaky voice, a jittery manner.

"Girls just don't act and talk that way," she said. "But it's becoming a fixed idea with some people in television that they do."

Jimsey took a long vacation from television and the stage after a truck knocked her off a bicycle when she was 13. For five years she attended the Brearley School and then studied acting for a time. "I was a has-been at 18," she says.

For a "has-been" however, she's doing very well at the advanced age of 21.

She lives with her mother in a Park Avenue apartment and "wouldn't think of marriage to any man who wanted me to give up my career." That's the way young actresses grow into old stars.

Homecoming Plans Set at Clarksburg

Clarksburg's annual field day and homecoming will be held Thursday, Aug. 1, at Hurst's Grove, one half mile east of Clarksburg on Route 138.

Sponsored by the Clarksburg Methodist Church, a big turnout is expected.

Many attractions are planned for the event with the Adelphi Band furnishing music. For all gun enthusiasts, trap shooting will be an all-day attraction and an hour's exhibition will be put on by Remington Arms experts marksman. Wheat threshing will be done by an old time steam outfit. For the youngsters there will be pony rides and stunts.

At 6 p. m. there will be a balloon ascension. The main attraction of the evening entertainment will be male quartets and the Three - State Championship Chorus from Columbus— featuring 45 men.

Lunch will be served during the day at the refreshment stands and a fish and chicken dinner will be served in the evening at 4 p. m.

Auto Air-Coolers Irritate Police

The reason: motorists can't hear their sirens.

One officer complained, "on a hot call nowadays, you might as well blow your whistle as your siren.

"They roll up the car windows, turn on the refrigeration, switch on the radio and ride along in heat-proof comfort. But they can't hear a thing."

Ambassador's Wife Cited For Her Own Work Abroad

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of our top diplomatic wives are doing a first rate job in promoting an understanding of the American way of life by taking part of it right along with them to ambassadorial posts abroad.

Mrs. L. Corrin Strong, wife of the former U. S. Ambassador to Norway, has done such an outstanding job in this field she's received awards not only from the Norwegian government but from her own as well.

She received the Order of St. Olaf before leaving Norway in April for her cultural assistance in that country. She also received the Norwegian Red Cross award, and just recently, in Washington, Arthur Larson, director of the U.S. Information Agency, presented her with the Distinguished Service Medal for furthering understanding between the two peoples.

In Oslo, Alice Trowbridge Strong set up an art center in the American Embassy, exhibiting paintings she borrowed from leading museums in the United States. Norwegians came from all parts of the country to see the paintings and sculpture, and after a while the Norwegian Art Gallery borrowed one painting at a time to feature as their "picture of the month."

Mrs. Strong also pitched in to help the Norwegian Red Cross with its fund-raising drives. Probably one of the most valuable services she rendered as a diplomat's wife was putting on three typical American benefits depicting phases of colorful historical significance. One was a country fair as staged in her own native New England, another was a California "gold rush," and the third was a "show boat," representing the South.

Now Mrs. Strong is continuing her goodwill efforts in this country by having a typical Norwegian hut constructed on their farm in North Haven, Me., where they'll be vacationing this summer.

Another ambassadorial wife carrying a little bit of America with her to foreign shores is Mrs. Scott McLeod, wife of the new U.S. envoy to Ireland.

Mrs. McLeod is taking some of the prized antiques she's been collecting over the years from her former homes in Iowa and New Hampshire, to the embassy in Dublin.

Included in the early Americana are a wonderful pine "harvest table" she expects to use in the embassy dining room, a dough box, a butter churn made into end tables, a cherry corner cupboard, and several colonial chests.

New Canadian Regime Wags Finger at U. S.

Prime Minister Says His Country Planning Less Yankee Trading

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—A Canadian likes the Yankee dollar as well as the next man. But he is getting irked at some things Yankees are doing.

The new regime in Canada—the Conservatives coming in after 20 years of Liberal rule—is tartly reminding Washington that it plans to oppose some practices both by the U. S. government and by U. S. businessmen.

Prime Minister John Difenbaker proposes to trade more with the British and less with us—about 600 million dollars a year less, in fact. He also squawks about our ways of selling farm surpluses abroad which he says is unfair to Canadian farmers. And his party, as well as many Liberals, don't like the domination of some Canadian industries that arrives along with the Yankee dollar.

Since Canada is a lucrative market for U. S. business, a four billion dollar a year one, and since American investors have big stakes in Canada and are constantly adding to them, Secretary of State Dulles is going there in a couple of weeks to talk things over with the new boss men in Ottawa.

The same tension is in part behind the announcement in Washington today of a new committee of 40 American and 40 Canadian leaders in the private economy to tackle the points of friction.

Canada points out that Washington is selling its surplus wheat abroad for the currency of the purchasing nation. Canada sells its wheat only for the Canadian dollar—which is worth five cents more than the U. S. dollar.

Canada calls the U. S. practice a bargain basement tactic that is cutting Canadian wheat out of any foreign markets, where the local currencies are plentiful and Canadian dollars scarce.

The trouble over the trade strictly between the United States and Canada is that we have been selling them well over one billion dollars more a year than we have been buying from them.

The difference has been more than made up by the American investor. He has been buying Canadian securities and pouring investment capital into our northern neighbor at so great a rate that the Canadian dollar is scarce in comparison with the Yankee dollar and can therefore command a five cent premium.

But the new Conservative regime is happy about neither the trade gap nor the control that American corporations are getting over Canadian industries.

Americans, for example, control 70 per cent of Canada's gas and oil industry.

They aren't saying, "Yankee dollar go home". They just want to reduce the weight it throws around.

Public Affairs Programs Lag

Hollywood Reluctant To Back Woman on Job

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—No type of television program has made more front page news this past season than the public affairs panel show in which a noted person is interviewed by newsmen.

Yet the panel program is having sponsor trouble. The reason is two-fold:

1. It's expensive to produce.
2. Its audience-rating figures are low compared to many entertainment shows.

Sponsors and agencies, wedded to the notion of "cost per thousand" by which they estimate the cost of bringing a program to each 1,000 viewers, are hesitant about investing in the panel shows.

The current news panel programs on television are Martha Rountree's "Press Conference" on ABC-TV, "face the Nation" on CBS-TV, and "Meet the Press" and the alternating "Youth Wants to Know" and "American Forum" on NBC-TV.

Oliver Presbrey, co-producer of "Press Conference," did not complain about the fact that "Press Conference"—like many a news panel program—has not been favored with steady time periods which are essential to building a large audience. In the first year of its history it has had three time shifts and gone against such opposition as the Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen shows and "I Love Lucy."

"Press Conference" costs nearly three million dollars a year to produce. Making a bid for institutional advertising sponsorship, Presbrey is lining up four alternating institutional sponsors, one each week, to lessen the financial load.

"The institutional advertiser doesn't seek the continuity and repetition of the hard-sell sponsor," he said. "He can do a better job of creating identity in the public mind by coming on once a month."

Walter Kelley Tells Woes Of Never-Blooming Actors

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Don't ask Walter Kelley what time it is. He has hocked his watch—again.

For eight years Kelley has been knocking on the door of Hollywood's big time, and perhaps, in some ways, he is typical of the film industry's corps of budding but not blooming actors.

During those years Kelley has had some mild ups, but mostly watch-pawning downs.

Remember him in these supporting roles?—

The fellow who won Terry Moore in "Come Back Little Sheba."

One of "Marty's" girlie-book reading buddies.

A frightened dogface in "Men at War."

The Subway spraphanger who picked up the girl in "Bachelor's Party."

Not an impressive list of credits, but Kelley—35 and no starry-eyed youngster — continues to keep plugging.

The question is—why?

Kelley's life is not one of squiring chic starlets to expensive Sunset Sprip saloons, flashy sports cars, wild parties—or much of the folderol frequently pictured by the film magazines.

Well on the fringe of the Hollywood glitter, Kelley lives in a $45-a-month gardener's cottage on a Beverly Hills estate.

The finance company is threatening a flanking movement on his partially unpaid-for 1956 convertible.

And a $150, one-day television stint has been his only job in more than two months.

During his career, which began with a San Francisco little theater group, Kelley has averaged about $3,000 a year. This includes an occasional modeling job.

And Kelly realizes the outlook for hitting the jackpot—especially after eight years—is slim and getting slimmer.

personable fellow, Kelley seems quite capable of donning an ivy league suit and making a comfortable living in a more prosaic but better-paid field.

Why not, asked a newsman who bumped into the Seattle-born actor in his favorite bistro.

Signing the tab for a gin and tonic, Kelley thought a moment, then replied:

"Why, I suppose it's because I'm an actor."

Hobo King Plans Lengthy Tour

CINCINNATI (AP)—The noboes of North America are slated for a visit in the next six months by Jeff Davis of Cincinnati, the king of the "Knights of the Road, Air and Seven Seas."

Davis won't have to grab boxcar rides for his trip. But there is plenty of walking, as well as plane and train travel, mapped out for the 30,000-mile tour.

Davis will also be host at the annual convention of hoboes next Oct. 12-19 at Tucson, Ariz., where he says about 300 will gather.

New Canadian Regime Wags Finger at U. S.

Prime Minister Says His Country Planning Less Yankee Trading

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—A Canadian likes the Yankee dollar as well as the next man. But he is getting irked at some things Yankees are doing.

The new regime in Canada—the Conservatives coming in after 20 years of Liberal rule—is tartly reminding Washington that it plans to oppose some practices both by the U. S. government and by U. S. businessmen.

Prime Minister John Difenbaker proposes to trade more with the British and less with us—about 600 million dollars a year less, in fact. He also squawks about our ways of selling farm surpluses abroad which he says is unfair to Canadian farmers. And his party, as well as many Liberals, don't like the domination of some Canadian industries that arrives along with the Yankee dollar.

Since Canada is a lucrative market for U. S. business, a four billion dollar a year one, and since American investors have big stakes in Canada and are constantly adding to them, Secretary of State Dulles is going there in a couple of weeks to talk things over with the new boss men in Ottawa.

The same tension is in part behind the announcement in Washington today of a new committee of 40 American and 40 Canadian leaders in the private economy to tackle the points of friction.

Canada points out that Washington is selling its surplus wheat abroad for the currency of the purchasing nation. Canada sells its wheat only for the Canadian dollar—which is worth five cents more than the U. S. dollar.

Canada calls the U. S. practice a bargain basement tactic that is cutting Canadian wheat out of any foreign markets, where the local currencies are plentiful and Canadian dollars scarce.

The trouble over the trade strictly between the United States and Canada is that we have been selling them well over one billion dollars more a year than we have been buying from them.

The difference has been more than made up by the American investor. He has been buying Canadian securities and pouring investment capital into our northern neighbor at so great a rate that the Canadian dollar is scarce in comparison with the Yankee dollar and can therefore command a five cent premium.

But the new Conservative regime is happy about neither the trade gap nor the control that American corporations are getting over Canadian industries.

Americans, for example, control 70 per cent of Canada's gas and oil industry.

They aren't saying, "Yankee dollar go home". They just want to reduce the weight it throws around.

Public Affairs Programs Lag

Hollywood Reluctant To Back Woman on Job

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—No type of television program has made more front page news this past season than the public affairs panel show in which a noted person is interviewed by newsmen.

Yet the panel program is having sponsor trouble. The reason is two-fold:

1. It's expensive to produce.
2. Its audience-rating figures are low compared to many entertainment shows.

Sponsors and agencies, wedded to the notion of "cost per thousand" by which they estimate the cost of bringing a program to each 1,000 viewers, are hesitant about investing in the panel shows.

The current news panel programs on television are Martha Rountree's "Press Conference" on ABC-TV, "face the Nation" on CBS-TV, and "Meet the Press" and the alternating "Youth Wants to Know" and "American Forum" on NBC-TV.

Oliver Presbrey, co-producer of "Press Conference," did not complain about the fact that "Press Conference"—like many a news panel program—has not been favored with steady time periods which are essential to building a large audience. In the first year of its history it has had three time shifts and gone against such opposition as the Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen shows and "I Love Lucy."

"Press Conference" costs nearly three million dollars a year to produce. Making a bid for institutional advertising sponsorship, Presbrey is lining up four alternating institutional sponsors, one each week, to lessen the financial load.

"The institutional advertiser doesn't seek the continuity and repetition of the hard-sell sponsor," he said. "He can do a better job of creating identity in the public mind by coming on once a month."

Walter Kelley Tells Woes Of Never-Blooming Actors

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Don't ask Walter Kelley what time it is. He has hocked his watch—again.

For eight years Kelley has been knocking on the door of Hollywood's big time, and perhaps, in some ways, he is typical of the film industry's corps of budding but not blooming actors.

During those years Kelley has had some mild ups, but mostly watch-pawning downs.

Remember him in these supporting roles?—

The fellow who won Terry Moore in "Come Back Little Sheba."

One of "Marty's" girlie-book reading buddies.

A frightened dogface in "Men at War."

The Subway spraphanger who picked up the girl in "Bachelor's Party."

Not an impressive list of credits, but Kelley—35 and no starry-eyed youngster — continues to keep plugging.

The question is—why?

Kelley's life is not one of squiring chic starlets to expensive Sunset Sprip saloons, flashy sports cars, wild parties—or much of the folderol frequently pictured by the film magazines.

Well on the fringe of the Hollywood glitter, Kelley lives in a $45-a-month gardener's cottage on a Beverly Hills estate.

The finance company is threatening a flanking movement on his partially unpaid-for 1956 convertible.

And a $150, one-day television stint has been his only job in more than two months.

During his career, which began with a San Francisco little theater group, Kelley has averaged about $3,000 a year. This includes an occasional modeling job.

And Kelly realizes the outlook for hitting the jackpot—especially after eight years—is slim and getting slimmer.

personable fellow, Kelley seems quite capable of donning an ivy league suit and making a comfortable living in a more prosaic but better-paid field.

Why not, asked a newsman who bumped into the Seattle-born actor in his favorite bistro.

Signing the tab for a gin and tonic, Kelley thought a moment, then replied:

"Why, I suppose it's because I'm an actor."

Phillies Claim Leadership in NL Nonsense

Only Giants and Cubs Fail To Gain 1st Spot In Race This Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Real quick now, who hasn't been in first place in that National League nonsense this season?

Only two clubs (New York Giants and Chicago Cubs) now that Philadelphia's long-frustrated Phillies have taken over by winning 12 of their last 14.

They grabbed a half-game edge over the St. Louis Cardinals Monday night by beating them 6-2. It was rookie Jack Sanford's 12th victory, tops in th NL.

Brooklyn's Dodgers, also on the rebound, won their fourth in a row by battering Milwaukee 20-4 to climb within four percentage points of the third-place Braves.

The Giants defeated the Cubs 5-3.

Just one game was scheduled in the American League and the Washington Senators walloped Kansas City 10-3.

Sanford, a 28-year-old fast-balling right-hander who bummed around in the minors for seven years, joined castoff Jim Hearn with three victories in the Phillies' streak, which has jumped them from fifth place since July 1.

All the Cards managed off Sanford was five hits, two by Al Dark, who tripled and scored the first run and homered for the other.

The Phils, who have pressed to second place six times previously only to be repulsed, swept the three-game set from the Cards with just six hits, but four were for extra bases. Willie Jones hit a two-run homer in the third. Wilmer Mizell lost his seventh defeat.

The Dodgers really had a ball, walloping 16 hits, five of them home runs, adding 10 bases on balls and scoring nine runs in the eighth on just five hits.

Charlie Neal hit two of the Brook home runs and drove in three runs along with Sandy Amoros. Sandy, Duke Snider and Don Drysdale, who won his seventh but needed Ed Roebuck's relief in the seventh when he became shaky with a 9-3 lead, hit the others.

The Braves used five pitchers, starting with loser Bob Trowbridge and finishing with Taylor Phillips, who absorbed the eighth-inning embarrassment.

Wes Covington had three hits and homered along with Carl Sawatski among Milwaukee's 11 hits.

The Giants made it behind Willie Mays, who junked a 3-2 Cub lead with his 16th homer — a two-run job in the third. Don Mueller also homered for the Giants as Johnny Antonelli won his ninth with relief help. Don Elston lost it.

Winner Russ Kemmerer and Lou Berberet hit two-run homers and Faye Throneberry connected for a solo shot for the Senators, who were out-hit 12-11. Wally Burnette lost it.

Oh yeah, if you were wondering about the Pittsburgh Pirates in that first-place quiz, forget about it. They were in a four-way tie opening day.

'Intellectual' Fighter Plans New Punching

NEW YORK (AP)—Frankie Ippolito, the intellectual fighter-school teacher, has decided to throw caution to the winds and do some punching.

"You know," said the Manhattan College graduate today, "I'm really a pretty good puncher, but I don't have much of a knockout record because I've been boxing rather than punching."

Ippolito, who intends to start work toward his masters degree at New York University in the fall, teaches physical education in the New York City school system.

If he is serious about sticking to punching, his next opponent, Johnny Busso, whom he meets at St. Nicholas Arena on Aug. 5, would do well to take note.

Ippolito decided to punch it out with young Tommy Salem of Cleveland in the feature 10 at St. Nicks Monday night. He required a couple of rounds to warm up, but once he got up a full head of steam, Salem was in trouble.

The final came at 1:37 of the sixth round Salem who had been down in the fifth, was against the ropes and barely able to defend himself from Ippolito's flailing.

Golf's 19th Hole

The two handicap golf tournaments, one for men and the other for women are the center of attraction at the Country Club now, but a couple of sidelight features have been set up by Tony Capuana, the club pro.

Next Sunday, there will be another of those Scotch foursomes. The first players are scheduled to tee off at 3 p. m. Following the golf, there will be a buffet supper.

The following Sunday, July 28, there will be a two-man, best-ball tournament (handicap included). Golfers select their own partners.

The pro has cited five fundamentals for good golf: (1) Grip and address; (2) stance-waggle and forward press; (3) One-piece left side turn; (4) Controlled and delayed hand action and (5) Pivot and balance.

This and that from the pro's notebook:

Clarence Christman turned in a 39 on the back nine for his best score of the season after having shot 51 on the front nine.

Bernie Light had a hot 42. . . wearing his bright red shirt.

Bill Himmelspach is back at golf after a good fishing trip to Canada.

Mrs. Carl Mason is sporting a new pair of golf shoes.

Mrs. Marvin Koszmann is consistent. . .she had had 59 the last four times she has played.

Miss Kristen Himmelspach, vacationing at Davisburg, Mich., shot a 42 on the course there.

Gene Gordon golfed at Perry, Ga., a week ago.

Best of the season scores—Mrs. Roszmann 51; Dr. O. W. House 40; Mrs. Wayne Shobe 47 for nine holes and 98 on 18 holes; Mrs. Willis Cleary 58 and Floyd West 41.

Charles Ferguson was out last week for the first time this season.

Mrs. Willard McLean and Mrs. Charles Griffiths played the Ohio State University course last week.

Mrs. Roscoe Shipley played around for the first time after taking golf lessons for several weeks.

Mrs. Max Lawrence, who took up golf only recently, shot a 73 for her best-ever; her success secret is the fluorescent balls she has been using.

Mrs. Russ Kerr served as caddy and score keeper for her husband.

Mrs. Roger Littleton of Sabina golfed at Chillicothe.

First Defeat Handed Brays

Monday evening at Jeffersonville, the Jeff nine was able to accomplish something which no team in the Babe Ruth League had previously done— beat Brays. And beat Brays they did, 7-6.

Jim Cook, Jeff, a right hander, went the distance for the home team. He struck out 17 Bray batters. Billy Southworth was the Bray starter and loser.

Going into the last half of the last inning, Jeff and Brays were tied at 6-all. With one down in that inning Skippy Burns singled, stole second when Southworth pitched to the next batter. On the next pitch Burns lit out for third, and Bray catcher, Ben Garringer, threw the ball past third in an attempt to cut Burns down there. When the ball rolled into left field, Burns scored and Brays' win skein was broken at 11 straight.

Leading the Jeffersonville onslaught were Cook with three hits and Jim Bush, with two.

Shortstop Terry Stillings led a 9-hit Bray attack, with 4 for 5.

Rest Seen As Help to Cincy Reds

NEW YORK (AP)—A day of rest and relaxation may rejuvenate the talents of the Cincinnati Redlegs, who still occupy the National League's fifth place.

The Reds had plummeted into the second division with a seven-game losing streak, and only pulled out of the nosedive with two spectacular victories over the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday.

Tebbetts, operator of a club that started the season as a pitching-poor, hitting - rich organization, says it's not fair to blame his hurlers.

He said: "When we've gone into tailspins, the problems were combinations of things, not just pitching. Our hitting failed, too. Recall the games: Four hits and one run, five hits and three runs and so forth."

The Reds' fifth place is only 2½ games back of the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies, but Tebbetts said the statistics are a little misleading.

"We've played a couple of games more than the other clubs," he said. "But we also have several more losses than they and it's approaching the point where the defeat column in the standing becomes very important."

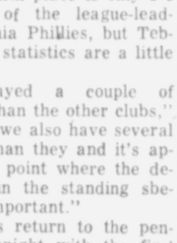

The Redlegs return to the pennant chase tonight with the first of three games with the New York Giants. Brooks Lawrence will face Ruben Gomez on the mound.

Main Team Wins From Rockets, 13-4

The Main nine won its ninth straight victory in the Little Minor League Monday evening as they defeated the Rockets, 13-4, at Armbrust Field.

Richard Long was the Main hurler, allowing the Rockets eight hits and only four runs, two of them coming on Virgil Jones' four bagger. Long and Pat Preston were the hit leaders with two for two.

Jones led the Rocket cause with another safety in addition to his homer.

Last Inning Rally Gives Flashes Win

The Flashes scored three times in the seventh inning at Wilson Field Monday evening to defeat the Jets, 4-1, in a Little League game.

In this extra inning contest, Mike Burris and Billy Hendersen were hitched up in an tight pitching duel for six innings, but due to the rule that a Little League pitcher may pitch only six innings, both were removed from the hill in the seventh.

Helped along by a couple outfield miscues by the Jets, the Flashes tallied three times in the last inning mainly on the strength of Billy Naylor's clutch double which kept the rally moving along.

The Flashes had six hits as compared to the Jet's skimpy total of three.

Herb Score Slated For Tests on Eye

CLEVELAND (AP) — Herb Score and his new bride flew into Cleveland early today and the Cleveland Indians' star southpaw said he hopes his doctor will give him a go-ahead to work out Wednesday.

But the 24-year - old strikeout king doesn't believe he will be ready to pitch for the Tribe until mid-August. He anticipates a conditioning program tougher than spring training.

Score has been out of action since the night of May 7 when a line drive off the bat of Gil McDougald struck him in the right eye. His nose was fractured and the retina of the eye was swollen.

Althea Gibson Cops Opener in Tourney

CHICAGO (AP)—Wimbledon champion Althea Gibson, determined to win her first major U. S. tennis title, put on a rousing performance Monday in the first round of the National Clay Courts Tourney.

The lack of confidence which has usually plagued her in big U. S. tournaments was gone.

"She was sure of herself out there," said her coach Sid Lewellyn. "You don't bring a youngster from nowhere and beat a talented player. She (Althea) knew this."

Phillies Claim Leadership in NL Nonsense

Only Giants and Cubs Fail To Gain 1st Spot In Race This Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Real quick now, who hasn't been in first place in that National League nonsense this season?

Only two clubs (New York Giants and Chicago Cubs) now that Philadelphia's long-frustrated Phillies have taken over by winning 12 of their last 14.

They grabbed a half-game edge over the St. Louis Cardinals Monday night by beating them 6-2. It was rookie Jack Sanford's 12th victory, tops in th NL.

Brooklyn's Dodgers, also on the rebound, won their fourth in a row by battering Milwaukee 20-4 to climb within four percentage points of the third-place Braves.

The Giants defeated the Cubs 5-3.

Just one game was scheduled in the American League and the Washington Senators walloped Kansas City 10-3.

Sanford, a 28-year-old fast-balling right-hander who bummed around in the minors for seven years, joined castoff Jim Hearn with three victories in the Phillies' streak, which has jumped them from fifth place since July 1.

All the Cards managed off Sanford was five hits, two by Al Dark, who tripled and scored the first run and homered for the other.

The Phils, who have pressed to second place six times previously only to be repulsed, swept the three-game set from the Cards with just six hits, but four were for extra bases. Willie Jones hit a two-run homer in the third. Wilmer Mizell lost his seventh defeat.

The Dodgers really had a ball, walloping 16 hits, five of them home runs, adding 10 bases on balls and scoring nine runs in the eighth on just five hits.

Charlie Neal hit two of the Brook home runs and drove in three runs along with Sandy Amoros. Sandy, Duke Snider and Don Drysdale, who won his seventh but needed Ed Roebuck's relief in the seventh when he became shaky with a 9-3 lead, hit the others.

The Braves used five pitchers, starting with loser Bob Trowbridge and finishing with Taylor Phillips, who absorbed the eighth-inning embarrassment.

Wes Covington had three hits and homered along with Carl Sawatski among Milwaukee's 11 hits.

The Giants made it behind Willie Mays, who junked a 3-2 Cub lead with his 16th homer — a two-run job in the third. Don Mueller also homered for the Giants as Johnny Antonelli won his ninth with relief help. Don Elston lost it.

Winner Russ Kemmerer and Lou Berberet hit two-run homers and Faye Throneberry connected for a solo shot for the Senators, who were out-hit 12-11. Wally Burnette lost it.

Oh yeah, if you were wondering about the Pittsburgh Pirates in that first-place quiz, forget about it. They were in a four-way tie opening day.

'Intellectual' Fighter Plans New Punching

NEW YORK (AP)—Frankie Ippolito, the intellectual fighter-school teacher, has decided to throw caution to the winds and do some punching.

"You know," said the Manhattan College graduate today, "I'm really a pretty good puncher, but I don't have much of a knockout record because I've been boxing rather than punching."

Ippolito, who intends to start work toward his masters degree at New York University in the fall, teaches physical education in the New York City school system.

If he is serious about sticking to punching, his next opponent, Johnny Busso, whom he meets at St. Nicholas Arena on Aug. 5, would do well to take note.

Ippolito decided to punch it out with young Tommy Salem of Cleveland in the feature 10 at St. Nicks Monday night. He required a couple of rounds to warm up, but once he got up a full head of steam, Salem was in trouble.

The final came at 1:37 of the sixth round. Salem who had been down in the fifth, was against the ropes and barely able to defend himself from Ippolito's flailing.

Ippolito's record now shows 20 victories in 26 fights, including a half-dozen knockouts.

Golf's 19th Hole

The two handicap golf tournaments, one for men and the other for women are the center of attraction at the Country Club now, but a couple of sidelight features have been set up by Tony Capuana, the club pro.

Next Sunday, there will be another of those Scotch foursomes. The first players are scheduled to tee off at 3 p. m. Following the golf, there will be a buffet supper.

The following Sunday, July 28, there will be a two-man, best-ball tournament (handicap included). Golfers select their own partners.

The pro has cited five fundamentals for good golf: (1) Grip and address; (2) stance-waggle and forward press; (3) One-piece left side turn; (4) Controlled and delayed hand action and (5) Pivot and balance.

This and that from the pro's notebook:

Clarence Christman turned in a 39 on the back nine for his best score of the season after having shot 51 on the front nine.

Bernie Light had a hot 42. . . wearing his bright red shirt.

Bill Himmelspach is back at golf after a good fishing trip to Canada.

Mrs. Carl Mason is sporting a new pair of golf shoes.

Mrs. Marvin Roszmann is consistent. . .she had had 59 the last four times she has played.

Miss Kristen Himmelspach, vacationing at Davisburg, Mich., shot a 42 on the course there.

Best of the season scores—Mrs. Roszmann 51; Dr. O. W. House 40; Mrs. Wayne Shobe 47 for nine holes and 98 on 18 holes; Mrs. Willis Cleary 58 and Floyd West 41.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bray are back golfing after a fishing trip to Canada.

Charles Ferguson was out last week for the first time this season.

Mrs. Willard McLean and Mrs. Charles Griffiths played the Ohio State University course last week.

Mrs. Roscoe Shipley played around for the first time after taking golf lessons for several weeks.

Mrs. Max Lawrence, who took up golf only recently, shot a 73 for her best-ever; her success secret is the fluorescent balls she has been using.

Mrs. Russ Kerr served as caddy and score keeper for her husband.

Mrs. Roger Littleton of Sabina golfed at Chillicothe.

First Defeat Handed Brays

Monday evening at Jeffersonville, the Jeff nine was able to accomplish something which no team in the Babe Ruth League had previously done— beat Brays. And beat Brays they did, 7-6.

Jim Cook, Jeff, a right hander, went the distance for the home team. He struck out 17 Bray batters. Billy Southworth was the Bray starter and loser.

Going into the last half of the last inning, Jeff and Brays were tied at 6-all. With one down in that inning Skippy Burns singled, stole second when Southworth pitched to the next batter. On the next pitch Burns lit out for third, and Bray catcher, Ben Garringer, threw the ball past third in an attempt to cut Burns down there. When the ball rolled into left field, Burns scored and Brays' win skein was broken at 11 straight.

Shortstop Terry Stillings led a 9-hit Bray attack, with 4 for 5.

Rest Seen As Help to Cincy Reds

NEW YORK (AP)—A day of rest and relaxation may rejuvenate the talents of the Cincinnati Redlegs, who still occupy the National League's fifth place.

The Reds had plummeted into the second division with a seven-game losing streak, and only pulled out of the nosedive with two spectacular victories over the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday.

Tebbetts, operator of a club that started the season as a pitching-poor, hitting - rich organization, says it's not fair to blame his hurlers.

He said: "When we've gone into tailspins, the problems were combinations of things, not just pitching. Our hitting failed, too. Recall the games: Four hits and one run, five hits and three runs and so forth."

The Reds' fifth place is only 2½ games back of the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies, but Tebbetts said the statistics are a little misleading.

"We've played a couple of games more than the other clubs," he said. "But we also have several more losses than they and it's approaching the point where the defeat column in the standing becomes very important."

The Redlegs return to the pennant chase tonight with the first of three games with the New York Giants. Brooks Lawrence will face Ruben Gomez on the mound.

Main Team Wins From Rockets, 13-4

The Main nine won its ninth straight victory in the Little Minor League Monday evening as they defeated the Rockets, 13-4, at Armbrust Field.

Richard Long was the Main hurler, allowing the Rockets eight hits and only four runs, two of them coming on Virgil Jones' four bagger. Long and Pat Preston were the hit leaders with two for two.

Jones led the Rocket cause with another safety in addition to his homer.

Last Inning Rally Gives Flashes Win

The Flashes scored three times in the seventh inning at Wilson Field Monday evening to defeat the Jets, 4-1, in a Little League game.

In this extra inning contest, Mike Burris and Billy Hendersen were hitched up in an tight pitching duel for six innings, but due to the rule that a Little League pitcher may pitch only six innings, both were removed from the hill in the seventh.

Helped along by a couple outfield miscues by the Jets, the Flashes tallied three times in the last inning mainly on the strength of Billy Naylor's clutch double which kept the rally moving along.

The Flashes had six hits as compared to the Jet's skimpy total of three.

PGA Championship Tourney Due Wednesday in Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The Professional Golfer Assn. opens its 39th championship tournament Wednesday without the assurance there will be a defending champion.

Jack Burke Jr., winner of the PGA and Masters championships last year, planned to try out an injured left arm today and decide whether he will be able to start.

"I don't see any sense in going out there and playing just for appearance's sake," he said.

Burke had to quit the Open Championship last month after 36 holes because of an injury to his right hand. He hurt his left arm recently in a fall at his Houston, Tex., home. The arm has been giving him considerable pain.

Meanwhile, Gene Littler, one of the two pros who had been on a "standby" basis for this tournament, received an invitation to compete as a replacement for Jimmy Clark, who withdrew Monday because of illness.

That left pudgy Bill Casper next in line in case Burke withdraws.

Littler and Casper came under a special provision, adopted by the PGA members last winter in an effort to make their tournament more attractive to the public but never fully explained.

The member pros, who really run the show, authorized the executive committee to invite a few pros who weren't eligible but were among the top money winners.

But they didn't set up foolproof machinery and didn't anticipate that the increased prize money—$40,000 total and $8,000 for first place — would attract so many entries from players who were exempt from qualifying.

The result was that the PGA found itself with 134 qualified players for only 128 places in the all-match play tournament. It wasn't until spots were found for four players who had been cut off after qualifying that Littler could be given an invitation.

Among those who dropped out were three-time PGA champion Gene Sarazen, who decided he couldn't face the possibility of playing 162 holes in five days, and Jerry Barber of Los Angeles.

The revamped tournament program calls for one round of 18-hole matches Wednesday, two each Thursday and Friday and 36-hole semi-finals and finals. In addition, there'll be playoffs among beaten players for places down to eighth.

The bulk of the 218-man field, as usual, is made up of "home" pros, who can play some very good golf but get few chances to prove it. In this tournament they have the habit of knocking off the more celebrated athletes.

Of the better known players, the top ones include Sam Snead, Dick Mayer, Doug Ford, Ted Kroll, Ed Furgol, Tommy Bolt, Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio and Mike Souchak.

Snead, who has won three PGA championships in 15 years, shot a practice round of 31-34—65 Monday over the 6,773-yard par 36-35—71 Miami Valley Course. That included bogies on three of the last six holes.

Mayer claims he has been too busy since winning the National Open championship last month to keep his golf game sharp. He doesn't expect to do very well since "there aren't any pigeons in this tournament." Furgol and Jack Fleck are the other Open title winners in this tournament.

Ford, PGA champion in 1954 and Masters winner this year, has been playing some very fine golf.

Finsterwald and Souchak, with Littler, are the leading representatives of the younger generation of pros. But unlike Gene, they already were eligible for the tournament.

Spinning Rigs Jam Creels Of Pacific Coast Fishermen

By DION HENDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

At a season when some inland fishermen will boast of catches measured to the last fraction of an inch, West Coast anglers are doing business with lunkers where you can be casual about fractions of a foot.

And this is not limited to the quarter-million or so who take to the briny deep in the big fishing cruisers, although this is a pleasant time of year for them too. Pickings on Pacific yellow tail and particularly on albacore off shore start looking up this time of year.

But it's the shore or just offshore sports fisher that has grown up on the Oregon coast north of California in the past six or seven years that's drawing special attention, from visitors as well as natives.

The spinning system probably is responsible for most of the boom, although the "old methods" familiar to the East Coast still have some support.

But the boom has seen the stiff trolling rod, and that junior-grade utility pole known as the surf rod give way to limber spinning rigs that can handle delicate baits right up under the nose of feeding salmon.

And what the change means in results can be read in such harvest report as the Umpqua river creel count a couple of seasons back when the sport started getting hot: 100 tons of salmon caught by more than 21,000 anglers during the summer season.

Salmon aren't the only prize either. Oregon fisherie: experts, as a matter of fact, are somewhat at a loss to describe just how good they've got it. The vast sports fishery there still is virtually untapped as far as volume is concerned.

H. J. Rayner, chief of the state's fishery division operations, says that at least five kinds of sea perches are available, fifteen rock fishes, kelp greenling lingcod and many flatfishes can be taken readily.

A five foot lingcod is no rarity, although it may be a considerable shock to the inlander used to handsome sports like brook trout. However, no matter how it looks, it tastes fine.

Hank Aaron Hailed As Greatest Hitter

BROOKLYN (AP) — Milwaukee's Hank Aaron has blossomed into baseball's greatest righthanded hitter since Rogers Hornsby, his manager, Fred Haney, says.

"Aaron is the best hitter in the game," asserted Haney, who once played with Ty Cobb, "and he hasn't even reached his full maturity yet."

The 23-year-old Braves' outfielder, in his fourth season in the major leagues, currently is second in National League batting with .343, and leads in home runs with 28 and in runs batted in with 75. He is only one point behind Stan Musial in the batting race.

Fraud Heads for Jail

CINCINNATI (AP) — Leroy Zimmer, 61, who pleaded guilty to defrauding the government on Korean War veterans' training while manager of a Hamilton business school, has surrendered to start a one-year prison term.

Boy Scouts Trade Causes Trouble

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—David Eiseman thought he had made a good trade for a pair of handcuffs at the Boy Scout Jamboree here until he tried to get them off. The bent key wouldn't work.

Six policemen tried their own keys, hairpins and paper clips for an hour without success. Finally someone thought of bending the key back into shape and the handcuffs parted.

Eiseman, 14, hasn't said whether he plans to swap the handcuffs off immediately.

PGA Championship Tourney Due Wednesday in Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The Professional Golfer Assn. opens its 39th championship tournament Wednesday without the assurance there will be a defending champion.

Jack Burke Jr., winner of the PGA and Masters championships last year, planned to try out an injured left arm today and decide whether he will be able to start.

"I don't see any sense in going out there and playing just for appearance's sake," he said.

Burke had to quit the Open Championship last month after 36 holes because of an injury to his right hand. He hurt his left arm recently in a fall at his Houston, Tex., home. The arm has been giving him considerable pain.

Meanwhile, Gene Littler, one of the two pros who had been on a "standby" basis for this tournament, received an invitation to compete as a replacement for Jimmy Clark, who withdrew Monday because of illness.

That left pudgy Bill Casper next in line in case Burke withdraws.

Littler and Casper came under a special provision, adopted by the PGA members last winter in an effort to make their tournament more attractive to the public but never fully explained.

The member pros, who really run the show, authorized the executive committee to invite a few pros who weren't eligible but were among the top money winners.

But they didn't set up foolproof machinery and didn't anticipate that the increased prize money—$40,000 total and $8,000 for first place — would attract so many entries from players who were exempt from qualifying.

The result was that the PGA found itself with 134 qualified players for only 128 places in the all-match play tournament. It wasn't until spots were found for four players who had been cut off after qualifying that Littler could be given an invitation.

Among those who dropped out were three-time PGA champion Gene Sarazen, who decided he couldn't face the possibility of playing 162 holes in five days, and Jerry Barber of Los Angeles.

The revamped tournament program calls for one round of 18-hole matches Wednesday, two each Thursday and Friday and 36-hole semi-finals and finals. In addition, there'll be playoffs among beaten players for places down to eighth.

The bulk of the 218-man field, as usual, is made up of "home" pros, who can play some very good golf but get few chances to prove it. In this tournament they have the habit of knocking off the more celebrated athletes.

Of the better known players, the top ones include Sam Snead, Dick Mayer, Doug Ford, Ted Kroll, Ed Furgol, Tommy Bolt, Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio and Mike Souchak.

Snead, who has won three PGA championships in 15 years, shot a practice round of 31-34—65 Monday over the 6,773-yard par 36-35—71 Miami Valley Course. That included bogies on three of the last six holes.

Mayer claims he has been too busy since winning the National Open championship last month to keep his golf game sharp. He doesn't expect to do very well since "there aren't any pigeons in this tournament." Furgol and Jack Fleck are the other Open title winners in this tournament.

Ford, PGA champion in 1954 and Masters winner this year, has been playing some very fine golf.

Finsterwald and Souchak, with Littler, are the leading representatives of the younger generation of pros. But unlike Gene, they already vere eligible for the tournament.

Spinning Rigs Jam Creels Of Pacific Coast Fishermen

By DION HENDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

At a season when some inland fishermen will boast of catches measured to the last fraction of an inch, West Coast anglers are doing business with lunkers where you can be casual about fractions of a foot.

And this is not limited to the quarter-million or so who take to the briny deep in the big fishing cruisers, although this is a pleasant time of year for them too. Pickings on Pacific yellow tail and particularly on albacore off shore start looking up this time of year.

But it's the shore or just offshore sports fisher that has grown up on the Oregon coast north of California in the past six or seven years that's drawing special attention, from visitors as well as natives.

The spinning system probably is responsible for most of the boom, although the "old methods" familiar to the East Coast still have some support.

But the boom has seen the stiff trolling rod, and that junior-grade utility pole known as the surf rod give way to limber spinning rigs that can handle delicate baits right up under the nose of feeding salmon.

And what the change means in results can be read in such harvest report as the Umpqua river creel count a couple of seasons back when the sport started getting hot: 100 tons of salmon caught by more than 21,000 anglers during the summer season.

Salmon aren't the only prize, either. Oregon fisherie experts, as a matter of fact, are somewhat at a loss to describe just how good they've got it. The vast sports fishery there still is virtually untapped as far as volume is concerned.

H. J. Rayner, chief of the state's fishery division operations, says that at least five kinds of sea perches are available, fifteen rock fishes, kelp greenling lingcod and many flatfishes can be taken readily.

A five foot lingcod is no rarity, although it may be a considerable shock to the inlander used to handsome sports like brook trout. However, no matter how it looks, it tastes fine.

Hank Aaron Hailed As Greatest Hitter

BROOKLYN (AP) — Milwaukee's Hank Aaron has blossomed into baseball's greatest righthanded hitter since Rogers Hornsby, his manager, Fred Haney, says.

"Aaron is the best hitter in the game," asserted Haney, who once played with Ty Cobb, "and he hasn't even reached his full maturity yet."

The 23-year-old Braves' outfielder, in his fourth season in the major leagues, currently is second in National League batting with .343, and leads in home runs with 28 and in runs batted in with 75. He is only one point behind Stan Musial in the batting race.

Fraud Heads for Jail

CINCINNATI (AP) — Leroy Zimmer, 61, who pleaded guilty to defrauding the government on Korean War veterans' training while manager of a Hamilton business school, has surrendered to start a one-year prison term.

Boy Scouts Trade Causes Trouble

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—David Eiseman thought he had made a good trade for a pair of handcuffs at the Boy Scout Jamboree here until he tried to get them off. The bent key wouldn't work.

Six policemen tried their own keys, hairpins and paper clips for an hour without success. Finally someone thought of bending the key back into shape and the handcuffs parted.

Eiseman, 14, hasn't said whether he plans to swap the handcuffs off immediately.

TESTS 3-DIMENSIONAL COLOR TV

JEAN KENNEY demonstrates in Evandale, Ohio, the world's first closed circuit television system. Here a toy truck is lined up by remote control as she views the screen through polarized glasses to get the 3-D effect. While the device was developed by General Electric for use in its aircraft nuclear propulsion department, the technique, it was said, could be used on other closed-circuit television applications. It is not, however, designed for use in home viewing systems.

TESTS 3-DIMENSIONAL COLOR TV

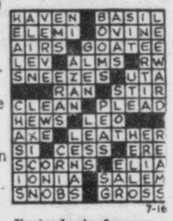

JEAN KENNEY demonstrates in Evandale, Ohio, the world's first closed circuit television system. Here a toy truck is lined up by remote control as she views the screen through polarized glasses to get the 3-D effect. While the device was developed by General Electric for use in its aircraft nuclear propulsion department, the technique, it was said, could be used on other closed-circuit television applications. It is not, however, designed for use in home viewing systems.

News of World in Brief—

Lawmen's 'Trap' Rapped by Judge

COLUMBUS (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Myron B. Gessaman ruled today that law enforcement officers "lured" a Lorain tavern keeper into serving beer and liquor to a minor.

The decision voided a 14-day license suspension imposed by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

Gay admitted selling two beers and a drink of whisky to Ralph Haslage, 19, of Lorain, son-in-law of a deputy sheriff, on April 20, 1956, after Haslage allegedly gave his age as 23. Haslage, the court said, admitted to the liquor board that his father-in-law has specifically asked him to order the drinks and Gay was arrested.

Judge Gessaman said there was "no question" that Gay was induced or lured by an officer of the law and that "it was definitely a case of entrapment."

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's new businessman foreign minister, Aiichiro Fujiyama, today complied with the law requiring him to give up private business connections. He resigned from 140 companies in which he was an executive.

LONDON (AP)—Oodles of poodles were blamed by 46-year-old John Lintern for the breakup of his marriage. Lintern told the judge Monday, his wife, Nancy, had 50 of the animals, gave them the run of the house and told him to get out when he protested that the place "smelled like a kennel." The judge granted Lintern the divorce.

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The Swedish tanker Justus Waller cabled her owners in Goteborg today that she had picked up 22 survivors from the 3,389-ton Panamanian-registered freighter Clarisse in the Indian Ocean. The message did not give any details about the fate of the Clarisse.

CAIRO (AP) — A schoolteacher commando and a social welfare worker are the first women ever elected to an Arab parliament. The pair won seats in Egypt's lower chamber in runoff voting Sunday. The elections named 186 deputies who will take their seats in the new Parliament to be inaugurated July 22.

Alley Involved In Court Suit By 6 Parties

Suit for an injunction and to quiet title to an alleyway in Millwood has been filed in Common Pleas Court by Luther E. Sexton, Lottie L. Sexton, Robert S. Sanderson, Helene Sanderson, Donald E. Wood and Betty J. Wood, all of Van Deman St., against John D. Carr and J. H. Persinger, city.

The plaintiffs claim to be in possession of a 20-foot alleyway at the rear of their lots 7, 8 and 9, first Millwood addition, and that the alleyway was laid out in the original plat of the P. Hagerty Shoe Co. in 1889, and has been in possession of the plaintiffs for more than 21 years.

Also that council adopted an ordinance vacating the alley last Wednesday July 10

The defendants, it is stated, own lots 4 and 19 in the John L. Persinger Homestead Revised Addition, which abuts on the strip of land in question. They claim an interest in the tract.

The defendant, John D. Carr, it is noted, has torn away a fence along the tract and is about to enter upon it. The court is asked to enjoin him from trespassing or in anyway interfering with plaintiffs possession of the tract, and that title to the tract be quieted by court order.

William Boyd Injured In Saving Man's Life

William Boyd, former Bloomingburg resident now living in Kissimmee, Fla., is in fair condition at Kissimmee Hospital today after he sustained a back injury while saving a man from drowning.

The man, Jerry Croxton, also of Kissimmee, is still in critical condition at the hospital.

Boyd, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Graden J. Boyd of Madison Mills, was injured when he jumped into a lake after Croxton. Boyd will be hospitalized "about three weeks," friends said.

Pvt. Jerry Lee Tubbs, of 74th Ordnance Supply Co. Ft. Pope, La., is home on an 11-day furlough.

County's 1958 Budget Close to that of 1957

From present indications the Fayette County budget for 1958 will be close to the same total amount that was appropriated for the county for 1957.

According to an estimate made Tuesday by County Auditor Harry Allen, following the inspection of all county departmental budgets, with some slight readjustments being made by the Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday, the total amount to be appropriated for Fayette County for next year will be approximately $1,071,442.78 of which only $184,981.37 comes from county taxes for the county's general fund, the remainder being from fees, state and federal grants and reimbursements from state sales and other taxes.

THE TOTAL amount given does not include the Fayette County Memorial Hospital budget, which is expected to be presented to the County Budget Commission later this week. This budget is estimated as probably being something near $400,000.

If this is a correct advance estimate, it will mean that the overall budget of county money allotted to all departments of the county will be close to the present 1957 total budget of $1,457,870.59.

None of this includes school costs of city or county or township expenses. The school expenses are classed and budgeted separately, as are the townships, villages and city of Washington C. H.

What this budget includes are expenses of all county offices, soldiers' relief, Courthouse and County Jail expenses, the county's share of expense in the district TB Sanatorium at Mt. Logan, Memorial Hall, the Municipal Court, blind relief the County Welfare Department (including the Children's Home), the county's agricultural department, Board of Election expenses, Common Pleas and Probate Court, aid to dependent children, Workmen's Compensation, expenses for county prisoners in workhouse, Public Employees Retirement fund, costs for state examinations, insurance on county property, interest on county bond issues and a number of other miscellaneous items of expense.

THE BUDGET Commission whose business it is to set the tax rates, is expected to have its work done on the county budget by September 1, providing all budgets are in and examined. This commission will report on whether the total budget is within the estimated receipts for next year. If it is not the Budget Commission will recommend that steps be taken to meet any deficiency, either in the form of other revenues or curtailment of expenses.

When completed and reported back to the county commissioners, the budget is to contain the amount estimated as available for all county expenses for 1958 from local taxes and from fees collected by county departments plus levies, state and federal grants.

Those county departments which receive a good sized portion of their costs from state and federal grants are the Highway Department for its county roads, aid to dependent children, blind relief, aid to the disabled, poor relief, aid to crippled children and the county welfare department, toward which the county pays from its taxes $13,500, the remainder of the cost coming from state and federal funds.

THE COUNTY commissioners will seek to get all amounts for departments in proper line with the total anticipated tax and other revenue to be received.

It was reported by that board that they will not know positively until December 31 this year as to the total revenue available, because whatever balances departments may have on hand must be considered in the appropriations made next January.

If further adjustments are necessary the commissioners must make them at that time and pass a resolution accepting the total amount certified by the budget commission. If they reject this amount the only alternative would be to curtail expenses further or present a tax levy to make up the difference. The latter action, county officials state, will not occur.

Tennis Tournament Under Way Here Now

The tennis tournament, recent addition to the city recreation program headed by Fred Domenico, got under way Monday evening with three matches.

The tournamct will be a pyramid challenge affair, in which anyone may challenge a player in the rank above him. If the challenger beats his opponent, he in turn takes the place which his opponent previously occupied and the opponent is demoted to the challenger's position in the pyramid.

Anyone not yet entered in the tournament may see Domenico at Gardner Park and request entrance. Those persons now entering the tournament will begin at the bottom row of the pyramid, but may challenge anyone in the row above them and, by this system, work to the top. Each win by a challenger moves him up one step in the pyramid.

Bill Graves beat challenger Fred Domenico—2 sets;

Joe Severs and Don Clay have not yet finished their match.

Driver Blamed for 4-Car Crash Fined $40 in Municipal Court

A Batavia man was fined $40 and costs by Judge Max G. Dice in Municipal Court Tuesday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to stop within assured clear distance.

Officers identified the man as James Paul Clark, 41, who was charged after he was involved in four-car pile-up on the CCC Highway, East, at noon last Saturday.

Ten people — including Clark, his wife and their four children — were injured in the accident, described as "one of the worst" here in several years.

Three of Clark's daughters — Ellen Jean, 10, Carol Louise, 8, and Paula Vickie, 13, are still in Memorial Hospital here. They were described as in "satisfactory" condition Tuesday.

In other court action, three drivers were fined for minor traffic offenses and seven forfeited bond.

News of World in Brief—

Lawmen's 'Trap' Rapped by Judge

COLUMBUS (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Myron B. Gessaman ruled today that law enforcement officers "lured" a Loram tavern keeper into serving beer and liquor to a minor.

The decision voided a 14-day license suspension imposed by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

Gay admitted selling two beers and a drink of whisky to Ralph Haslage, 19, of Lorain, son-in-law of a deputy sheriff, on April 20, 1956, after Haslage allegedly gave his age as 23. Haslage, the court said, admitted to the liquor board that his father-in-law has specifically asked him to order the drinks and Gay was arrested.

Judge Gessaman said there was "no question" that Gay was induced or lured by an officer of the law and that "it was definitely a case of entrapment."

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's new businessman foreign minister, Aiichiro Fujiyama, today complied with the law requiring him to give up private business connections. He resigned from 140 companies in which he was an executive.

LONDON (AP)—Oodles of poodles were blamed by 46-year-old John Lintern for the breakup of his marriage. Lintern told the judge Monday, his wife, Nancy, had 50 of the animals, gave them the run of the house and told him to get out when he protested that the place "smelled like a kennel." The judge granted Lintern the divorce.

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The Swedish tanker Justus Waller cabled her owners in Goteborg today that she had picked up 22 survivors from the 3,389-ton Panamanian-registered freighter Clarisse in the Indian Ocean. The message did not give any details about the fate of the Clarisse.

CAIRO (AP) — A schoolteacher commando and a social welfare worker are the first women ever elected to an Arab parliament. The pair won seats in Egypt's lower chamber in runoff voting Sunday. The elections named 186 deputies who will take their seats in the new Parliament to be inaugurated July 22.
